We cannot assure you that our application will be accepted by the Patent Office and that the patent will be registered in favour of our Company. In the event our application is rejected by Patent Office, we may be unable to enjoy complete benefits of a patented product or to compete effectively and our business, results of operation and financial condition may be adversely affected.

Obtaining, protecting and defending intellectual property rights can be time consuming and expensive, and may require us to incur substantial costs, including the diversion of the time and resources of management and technical personnel. Notwithstanding the precautions we take to protect our intellectual property rights, it is possible that third parties may copy or otherwise infringe on our rights, which may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

Protecting our intellectual property rights is limited by territory in India and successfully obtaining intellectual property rights protection in one jurisdiction may not necessarily provide protection in another jurisdiction and we may have to seek such alternative protections available in multiple and other jurisdictions where we and our customers operate. The process for obtaining intellectual property rights protection in certain jurisdictions can be lengthy and may entail substantial costs. Incurring substantial costs for the intellectual property rights protection may have an effect on the operations and the cash flows of the Company

3. Our Company is using certain trademark and copyrights belonging to our sole Promoter, which currently has been charged in favour of our lenders.

Our Company is using a registered trademark and copyrights in respect of its software Auto DCR which originally is owned by and registered in favour of our sole Promoter Mr. Vijay Gupta. Our Company has been using the said copyright and trademark without entering into any formal royalty agreement or deed of assignment with our Promoter.

Further, our Company alongwith our Promoter has entered into a Deed of Assignment dated March 6, 2013 with Small Industries Development Bank of India pursuant to which the above referred copyright and trademark has been charged in favour of our lender Small Industries Development Bank of India (SIDBI) as security towards a loan of Rs. 700 Lakhs borrowed by our Company. As per the terms of the Deed of Assignment, the above copyright and trademark will be assigned back to our Promoter upon full repayment of the loan, interest and other monies in terms of the said agreement. Further, our Promoter has given a written undertaking dated March 28, 2018 to our Company to transfer the above copyright and trademark by executing a fresh deed of assignment in favour of our Company as and when the loan has been repaid in full by our Company and the above mentioned copyright and trademark are assigned back to our Promoter.

In past we have repaid all our debts on time and shall continue to do so. In the event we default in repayment of the loans / facilities availed by us from SIDBI, the above copyright and trademark may become permanently vested in favour of SIDBI, which in turn could have significant adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. For further details please refer to chapter titled "Statement of Financial Indebtedness" beginning on page 231 and "Government and Other Statutory Approvals" beginning on page 243 of this Prospectus.

4. Our Company requires significant amounts of working capital for a continued growth. Our inability to meet our working capital requirements may have an adverse effect on our results of operations.

Our business is working capital intensive and requires significant portion of working capital and major portion of which is utilized towards trade receivables and trade payables. Further, our Company intends to continue growing by reaching out to newer clients/ customers and also increasing the sales in the existing customers base. Our growing scale and expansion, may result in increase in the quantum of current assets. Our inability to maintain sufficient cash flow, credit facility and other sources of fund, in a timely manner, or at all, to meet the requirement of working capital or pay out of debts, could adversely affect our financial condition and result of our operations. Summary of our working capital position is given below:-

The Offer includes a Fresh Issue of 23,71,200 Equity Shares by our Company aggregating to Rs. 1896.96 Lakhs and an Offer for Sale of 4,80,000 Equity Shares by Selling Shareholder aggregating to Rs. 384.00 Lakhs. As on the date of this Prospectus, Rajasthan Trustee Company Private Limited A/c SME Tech Fund RVCF Trust II have specifically confirmed that it holds 18,87,796 Equity Shares, and that they have consent to offer 4,80,000 Equity Shares for sale in the Offer for Sale. The proceeds for this portion will be remitted to the Selling Shareholder and our Company will not benefit from such proceeds. For further details, please refer to chapter titled – "The Offer" and the "Objects of Offer" beginning page 59 and page 100 of this Prospectus.

6. Our revenues from our projects are subject to seasonal and other variations.

We are engaged in the business of providing software products to various governmental authorities and departments. We receive work orders on the basis of tenders issued by them. These contracts are generally for long term period which provides a streamline revenue throughout the year. However, major portion of our contracts and work orders are generated during the last quarter of the Financial Year. For instance, in the last quarter of the Financial Year 2016-2017, our Company earned a Revenue of Rs. 1,215.98 Lakhs which constitutes approx. 26% of the total revenue for the whole financial year. This is basically due to the fact that the government departments and their authorities strives to meet the government targets at the year end. As a result, we witness higher revenue in the quarter ending March as compared to the other previous quarters in a financial year.

These factors may make it challenging for us to prepare accurate internal financial forecasts. In addition, since we record revenues using the percentage of completion method and revenues are not recognized until there is reasonable progress on a contract, revenues recorded in the first half of our financial year between April and September are traditionally less compared to revenues recorded during the second half of our financial year. As a result, our revenues and profits may vary significantly during different financial periods, and certain periods are not indicative of our financial position for the year. Investors may for further details, refer to chapter titled – "Financial Statements as restated" beginning page 212 of this Prospectus.

7. Failure to continue investing in Research & Development (R&D) activity may harm our business growth.

One of the reason for us to grow has been our continued focus on R&D activity. Information Technology is an industry which by its nature requires a continuous and break-free focus on R&D activity. Considering the importance of R&D activities in our operations and business, we have been continuously investing in R&D and related activities. This requires extensive amount of capital & human effort in addition to other resources. Our Company has not faced issues around this till date, however, we cannot assure the potential investors that we shall be able to invest considerably or at all in R&D activities in coming years as we are presently doing. This may have an adverse effect on our growth and may impact our business severely.

8. The business practices of our customers with respect to the collection, use and management of personal information could give rise to operational interruption, liabilities or reputational harm as a result of governmental regulation, legal requirements or industry standards relating to consumer privacy and data protection.

The regulatory focus on privacy issues continues to increase whereby the global laws and regulations concerning the handling of personal information evolve and become more complex and stringent and potential risks related to data collection and use within our customers' business will intensify. In addition, many governments have enacted or are considering enacting legislation or regulations, or may in near future interpret existing legislation or regulations, in a manner that could significantly impact our ability and that of our customers' and data partners to collect, augment, analyse, use, transfer and share personal and other information that is integral to certain products we provide. The products of our Company are used by our customer's which involves the collection, use and management of personal information as the end usage. Certain proprietary and confidential information with respect to the building plan, development plans or other plans (like interior plan) are uploaded in the software installed in the customer's ecosystem.

Any systems failure or security breach in the software installed at the customers end could harm our reputation and goodwill and, consequently, our business, in addition to exposing us to potential legal liability. Any such legal proceedings or actions may subject us to significant penalties and negative publicity along with increase in costs to defend any such legal proceedings which may require us to change our business practices and severely disrupt our business.

9. Our Company has negative cash flows in one of the previous years, details of which are given below. Sustained negative cash flow could impact our growth and business.

Our Company had negative cash flows from our operating, investing and financing activities in the previous years as per the Restated Financial Statements and the same are summarized as under:

Amount (Rs. In lakhs)

Particulars	For the period ended 31 st Oct, 2017	For the year ended 31 st March
		2017	2016	2015	2014
Cash Flow from / (used in) Operating Activities	62.10	943.21	(47.74)	217.19	167.77
Cash Flow from / (used in) Investing Activities	(176.89)	(510.65)	(420.89)	(725.38)	(437.39)
Cash Flow from / (used in) Financing Activities	(63.24)	(368.09)	578.88	(1.20)	689.81

Cash flow of a company is a key indicator to show the extent of cash generated from operations to meet capital expenditure, pay dividends, repay loans and make new investments without raising finance from external resources. If we are not able to generate sufficient cash flows in future, it may adversely affect our business and financial operations.

10. We face competition in the software industry. If we are unable to compete effectively, the results of our operations and prospects for our business could be harmed.

The competition in the software and IT industry is highly competitive with players both small and large (which have identical but not the exact business carried on by the Company) competing with us. We expect competition to intensify in the future as the pace of technological change and adaptation accelerates in near future. Other companies may also launch products which are identical or similar to our products and may compete with us in terms of operations and market reach.

We may also face increasing competition from open source software initiatives in which competitors may use software and intellectual property for free thereby reducing their cost substantially. Existing or new competitors could gain sales opportunities or customers at our expense. Certain of these competitors may also compete very aggressively on price.

11. Our software products owing to certain issues such as coding, configuration or any other technical error or defects could lead to Company bearing exponential costs, delay in revenues and consequently expose us to litigation.

The software products that we have offered or which we offer to our customers are highly complex owing to the programming, coding and the technical language involved in making of our software products. We perform prior testing of our products before the launch of our software products and continuously endeavor to provide our customer seamless user experience by upgrading the performance of our software products throughout its lifecycle through regular updates of the versions of our software products and by improving its utility, performance, security and its function. Our software products may sometimes contain coding or configuration errors that can have a negative consequence on the functioning of our products which could hamper the end results required by our customers.

At times, there may be instances when few errors and bugs may be found in new software products that our Company launches or in the upgraded versions of our products after delivery to our customers. If these defects are discovered after the release of such products to our customers, there may be delays in correcting such defects and bugs which may create unsatisfactory user experience to our customers. Further, we cannot guarantee that despite our extensive tests prior to the launch of our software products, we may be able to adequately detect the software errors which may become apparent only once our software products are installed and used in an end-user's environment. The occurrence of errors and/ or failures in our software products could result in the delay in the launch of our products or a complete rejection of our product in the market. Alleviating such errors and failure may require us to incur significant time, cost and expenditure.

Our customers often use our software products for their critical business processes and as a result, any defect or disruption in our products or any data breaches or misappropriation of proprietary information, or any error in implementation either at the end of the customers or the Company or third-party activity such as denial of service attacks or hacking, may cause customers to reconsider renewing their contract with us. The errors in or failure of our software products could also result in loss of customer documents and other files belonging to the customer, thereby causing significant customer dissatisfaction and exposing us to claims for monetary damages and litigations.

12. If our software products and services do not gain market acceptance, our operating results may be negatively affected

To effectively meet our customer demands, it is important that we continue to develop and enhance our existing range of products and launch new software products and services in the market. The markets for our software products are rapidly evolving due to which the level of acceptance of products is not certain.

If the markets for our software products are not favourable, or tend to advance slower than expected, our business and operations may be adversely affected. As a result, we may be unable to: (i) successfully market our existing products; (ii) develop and successfully launch new software products and enhancements to existing software products; (iii) complete customer implementations on a timely basis, or (iv) complete software products currently under development.

If our software products are not accepted by our customers, our business, operating results and financial condition will be material adversely affected.

13. The products that we commercialize may not perform as expected which could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our success depends significantly on our ability to commercialize our products in India and across various markets around the world. Commercialization requires us to successfully complete the programming, coding, testing, and marketing our products, while complying with applicable standards. In the event our products which are currently under development, do not perform as we expect, we may not be able to successfully and profitably launch our product in the market which may adversely affect our business, revenues from operations, and cash flows. We intend to utilize Rs. 598.12 lakhs for marketing our products which are already developed and/ or which are under the process of development. For further details, please refer to section titled "Objects of the Offer" beginning on page 100 of this Prospectus. We cannot assure that we will be able to successfully utilize this amount partly or fully or successfully market our products.

14. Our cloud strategy, including our Software as a Service (SaaS) offerings, may impact our revenues and profitability from our existing and future on-premise enterprise software offerings.

Our products are also deployed through our cloud-based "Software as a Service" (SaaS) offering. These cloud-based technology continue to evolve, and we may not be able to compete effectively and generate significant revenues or maintain the profitability of our cloud offerings.

Additionally, the increasing prevalence of cloud and SaaS delivery models offered by us and our competitors may unfavourably impact the pricing and demand of our on-premise enterprise software offerings, which may reduce our revenues and profitability.

As customer demand for our cloud offerings increases, we may experience volatility in our reported revenues and operating results due to the differences in timing of revenue recognition for our new on-premise software licences. Customers generally purchase our cloud offerings on a subscription basis and revenues from these offerings are generally recognised proportionately over the terms of the subscriptions. This is in contrast to revenues associated with our new on-premise software licences arrangements whereby new on-premise software licences revenues are generally recognised in full at the time of delivery of the related software licenses.

In the event we continue to see more of our customers selecting our SaaS offerings, with payments made on a monthly or periodic basis rather than based on a perpetual licence with upfront fees, we may, in some cases, face situation where our reported revenue and cash flow could be lower in the short term when compared to our historical perpetual licence model. Further, there may be variance in the cash flows and revenues between periods depending on our customers' preference to license our products or subscribe to our subscription-based offerings. While we expect that, over time, the transition to a cloud and subscription model will help our business to generate revenue growth by attracting new users and by keeping our user base current (as subscriptions allow users to receive the latest product updates and thereby increasing recurring revenue per user), there is no assurance that our short term revenue and operating cash flows will not be adversely affected during any ongoing transition period.

15. Changes in technology may render our current technologies obsolete or require us to make substantial capital investments.

Modernization and technology advancement are key to produce better quality solutions. Although, we strive to keep our technology in line with the latest standards, we may be required to implement new technology or upgrade the existing technologies employed by us and any inability on our part to keep pace with such changes in the technological developments could adversely impact our business, results of operations and financial conditions. Further, the costs in upgrading our technology could be significant which could substantially affect our finances and operations of our Company and our failure to anticipate or to respond adequately to changing technical, market demands and/ or customers' requirements could adversely affect our business and financial results.

16. Our success depends upon our ability to develop new products and services and enhance our existing products and services.

IT industry revolves around rapid technological changes, delivery models and evolving computer software development, changing and increasingly sophisticated customer needs and frequent new product introductions, improvisation and enhancements. Digitization is a recent major driving change in the business scenario, with leading players in the IT sector looking to adopt new technologies and software platforms to meet critical business needs, including revenue growth driven through new products and services, better customer experience and delivery mechanisms, and growth in revenue and profits.

Additionally, our success depends upon ability to anticipate, design, develop, test, market, license and support new software products and enhance our existing products on a timely basis in response to both competitive threats and evolving industry requirements.

If we are unable to develop new products and services, enhance our offerings to the existing and new customer's base topping up with the support services to our customers in a timely manner and pricing, customers may not use our software products. Our business may be adversely affect if:

- we do not continue to develop and release or other new or enhance our existing products within the anticipated time frames;
- there is a delay in market acceptance of a new, enhanced or acquired product line;
- there are changes in IT industry standards or trends and preferences that we do not adequately anticipate or address with our product development efforts; or
- we fail to adequately integrate, support or enhance acquired product lines.

17. Any IT system failures or lapses on part of any of our employees may lead to operational interruption, liabilities or reputational harm.

The success of our businesses depends in part upon our ability to effectively deploy, implement and use information technology systems and advanced technology initiatives in a cost effective and timely basis. Our information technology systems include multiple applications, coding, configuration and other systems that allocate resources and facilitate internal and external communications, enabling us to coordinate and make quick decisions across our business.

Our computer networks may be vulnerable to unauthorised access, computer hacking, computer viruses, worms, malicious applications and other security problems caused by unauthorised access to, or improper use of, systems by our employees, subcontractors or third-party vendors.

Any systems failure or security breach or lapse on our part or on the part of our employees and other ecosystem participants that results in the release of user data could harm our reputation and brand and, consequently, our business, in addition to exposing us to potential legal liability. Any such legal proceedings or actions may subject us to significant penalties and negative publicity, require us to change our business practices, increase our costs and severely disrupt our business.

18. Our success depends on our ability to attract and retain key employees, and our failure to do so could harm our ability to grow our business and execute our business strategies.

Our performance and success substantially depends on the ability to attract and retain our key employees, including our management team and experienced engineers. Although some of the members of our senior management have been with us for a long period of time, there can be no assurance that any member of our senior management or other key employees will not leave us in the future.

Our success is also highly dependent on our continuous ability to identify, hire, train, retain and motivate highly qualified management, technical, sales and marketing personnel. In particular, the recruitment of skilled product developers and experienced sales personnel remains critical to our success. Competition for personnel in the IT industry is intense and the quality of human resource a company possess is equally important, while the availability of suitable and qualified candidates is limited. We compete to attract and retain qualified personnel with top universities. The loss of the services of one or more of our key employees, especially our key engineers, or our inability to attract and retain qualified engineers, could harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

19. Our Promoter have pledged his shares for availing the financial facilities provided to us by our lender. In the event there is any default on servicing of the debt obligations by our Company, the pledge may be invoked and the pledged shares of the Promoter may be taken over by the lender which in turn may further dilute his shareholding in our Company, which may adversely affect our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations.

For the purpose of availing financial facility from Technology Development Board of India, our Promoter, Mr. Vijay Gupta, have pledged 3,00,000 Equity Shares with Technology Development Board of India, which constitutes around 4.25% of our pre-offer share capital as on the date of filing the Prospectus. In the event of any default in servicing of the debt obligations incurred by our Company, the pledge may be invoked and the pledged shares of our Promoter may be taken over by the lender which in turn may further dilute his shareholding in our Company, which may adversely affect our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations. For further details, please refer chapter titled – “Statement of Financial Indebtedness” beginning Page no. 231 of this Prospectus.”

20. Product development is an expensive and long process and our current expenditure in research and development activities may not provide satisfactory return.

The development of our products like, BIMDCR, Rule Buddy and IBPS is a costly, complex and time-consuming process, and the investment in their development often involves a long wait until a return is achieved on such an investment. We have made, and will continue to make, significant investments in software product research and development. Investments in new technology and processes are inherently uncertain. Commercial success depends on many factors, including the degree of innovation of the software products and its after sale services developed through our R&D efforts, sufficient support from our channel partners, and effective distribution and marketing. Such expenditure may adversely affect our operating results if they are not offset by corresponding and timely revenue increases.

We will continue to dedicate a significant amount of resources to our R&D efforts in order to maintain our position. However, significant revenues from new software product may not be achieved for a number of years, or at all. Moreover, new product software may not be profitable, and even if they are profitable, the initial operating margins for a new software products may not be in line with the margins we have experienced for our existing or historical software products.

We may determine that certain software product candidates do not have sufficient potential to warrant the continued allocation of resources and accordingly, we may elect to terminate such programs. If we terminate a software product in which we have investments significant resources, our prospects may suffer, as we will have expended resources on a project that will not provide any return on our investments and also may have missed the opportunity to have allocated those resources to potentially more productive areas. This may adversely impact our business, operating results and financial condition.

21. If our security measures are compromised, our products and services would be perceived as vulnerable, our brand and reputation would be damaged and customers could stop using our products and services, all of which would materially adversely affect us.

Our products and services store, retrieve and manage our customers’ information and data, external data, as well as our own data. Third parties may identify and exploit product and its service vulnerabilities, penetrate or bypass our security measures, and gain unauthorised access to our or our customers, networks and systems, any of which could lead to the compromise of personal information or the confidential information or our data or that of our customers.

High-profile security breaches at companies have increased in recent years, and security industry experts and government officials have warned about the risks of hackers and cyber-attacks targeting IT products and businesses. These risks will increase as we continue to grow, store and process increasingly large amounts of data, including personal information and our customers’ confidential information and data and other external data. Further, as privacy and data protection become more sensitive issues in India, we may also become exposed to potential liabilities. For instance, under the Information Technology Act, 2000 (“IT Act”), we are subject to civil liability for wrongful loss or gain arising from any negligence by us in implementing and maintaining reasonable security practices and procedures with respect to sensitive personal data or information on our computer systems, networks, databases and software. India has also implemented privacy laws, including the IT Security Rules, which impose limitations and restrictions on the collection, use and disclosure of personal information.

We could suffer significant damage to our brand and reputation if a cyber-attack or other security incident were to allow unauthorised access to or modification of our customers’ data, other external data, or our own data or our IT systems or if the services we provide to our customers were disrupted, or if our products or services are perceived as having security vulnerabilities. Customers could lose confidence in the security and reliability of our products and services, and this could lead to fewer customers using our products and services and result in reduced revenue and earnings. The costs we may incur to address and fix these security incidents would increase our expenses. These types of security incidents could also lead to breach of contracts with customers, lawsuits, regulatory investigations and claims and increased legal liability, including contractual costs related to customer notification and fraud monitoring, all of which could materially adversely affect us.

22. The demand for our product is dependent, to a certain extent, on the level of investments and government's spending on construction activities in India, policies on Smart City and Ease of Doing Business. Any economic downturn or other factors adversely affecting Government investments or policies in this area may result in a decrease in the demand for our product and adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our Company caters majorly to various state governments and Public Welfare Department who are our customers. As on October 31, 2017, the revenue generated taking in account of business generated from the state government and central government is 70.86% of our total revenue. The continued demand for our product viz., Auto DCR and services in relation to government projects depends upon the continued expenditure by the government agencies on various construction projects it undertakes, Smart city initiatives by government and focus on improving the rankings in Ease of Doing Business. Various factors would affect, among others, the nature, scale, location and timing of the government's public investment plans in the construction sector in India. These factors include the government's policy and priorities regarding different regional economies and the general condition and prospects of the overall economy of India. The scaling back of government policies or its initiatives, changes in government or external budgetary allocation, or insufficiency of funds can adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Any substantial reduction in the budget of our Customers relating to such aforesaid expenditure will lead to a fall in revenue arising from a smaller number of projects, lower contract value for our projects and/or a decline in profit margin due to increased competition for available projects. This could have a material and adverse effect on our business, financial position and results of operations.

Further, any initiatives taken on the level of investments and government's spending on construction activities in India, policies on Smart City and Ease of Doing Business may not guarantee us incremental revenue as the contracts from the Government are awarded by way of tender and we may not be successful applicant in tender.

23. Some of our records, including forms filed with the Registrar of Companies are not traceable.

Our Company is unable to trace certain forms and resolutions filed by the Company with the RoC in relation to incorporation of the Company such as Form 1 (application and declaration for incorporation of a company), Form 32 (Intimation of appointment of First Directors) and Form 18 (Intimation of situation of Registered Office of the Company at the time of Incorporation). Due to change in methods of record keeping over the years, all the forms filed with the RoC prior to the year 2006 such as return of allotment, forms for increase in authorized capital, annual returns, incorporation forms and forms for allotment of shares, etc. could not be traced by our Company from the RoC records. Further, online filings of RoC documents was initiated only in the year 2006 and all forms prior to the said year was physically filed. While our Company has maintained and has been able to trace all other forms other than as mentioned above and resolutions filed by it with the RoC in physical form prior to the year 2006 in respect of the disclosures and statements made by it in the Draft Red Herring Prospectus, Red Herring Prospectus and the Prospectus, our Company cannot assure that complete records of all the physical forms and documents are available with the Company. Our Company may not be in a position to attend to and / or respond appropriately to any legal matter which may arise due to lack of lost or destroyed records and to that extent the same could adversely affect our business operations.

Our Company has put in place appropriate systems and has also appointed a dedicated team of professionals to ensure that the records of all forms, resolutions and documents filed by our Company with the regulatory authorities on a regular basis are appropriately maintained.

24. Our business and results of operations are dependent on the contracts that we enter into with our customers. Any breach of the conditions under these contracts may adversely affect our business and results of operations.

We have entered into contracts with our customers which, depending on the customer, may contain terms and conditions which typically include:

- (i) the nature and specification of products and its services to be provided by us;
- (ii) customisation and integration of the software with our customers' pre-existing systems;
- (iii) manner of inspection, testing and acceptance of software provided by us;
- (iv) representations, warranties and disclaimers made by us in relation to the services provided by us;
- (v) process to be followed in case of defects;
- (vi) steps to ensure compliance with applicable laws;
- (vii) undertakings in relation to protection of intellectual property of our customers; and
- (viii) indemnification of our customers due to our negligence or breach of any term of the agreement.

While we internally consider all such factors prior to entering into these contracts, we cannot assure you that we will be able to continue to enter into similar such contracts in the future, which are not more onerous than the contracts we enter into currently. Additionally, non-compliance with the terms of our contracts, including breach of confidentiality provisions, may subject us to damages or penalties, lead to termination of the contracts and also result in us being unable to attract further business in the future.

25. We are subject to risks associated with expansion into new geographic regions.

Expansion into new markets, including in India and overseas, subjects us to various challenges, including those relating to our lack of familiarity with the culture, legal regulations and economic conditions of these new regions, language barriers, difficulties in staffing and managing such operations, and the lack of brand recognition and reputation in such regions.

The risks involved in entering new geographic markets and expanding operations, may be higher than expected, and we may face significant competition in such markets. By expanding into new markets, we could be subject to additional risks associated with establishing and conducting operations, including: compliance with a wide range of laws, regulations and practices, increase in operating costs, including uncertainties associated with changes in:

- laws, regulations and practices and their interpretation; local preferences and service requirements;
- fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates;
- inability to effectively enforce contractual or legal rights and adverse tax consequences;
- differing accounting standards and interpretations;
- stringent as well as differing labour and other regulations;
- differing domestic and foreign customs, tariffs and taxes;
- exposure to expropriation or other government actions; and
- political, economic and social instability.

Our Company does intend to expand its existing markets. For further details, please refer to section titled "Objects of the Offer" beginning on page 100 of this Prospectus. By opting to expand, we may be exposed to significant liability and could lose some or all of our investment in such regions, as a result of which our business, financial condition and results of operations could be adversely affected.

26. We may be seriously affected by delays in the collection of receivables from our clients and may not be able to recover adequately on our claims.

There may be delays in the collection of receivables from our customers. Because of the nature of our contracts, we sometimes commit resources to projects prior to receiving adequate payments from customers in amounts sufficient to cover expenditures as they are incurred. From time to time, it may be difficult for us to collect payments owed to us by these customers.

In addition, our customers may request extension of the payment terms otherwise agreed to under our contracts. As of October 31, 2017, in accordance with the Restated Financial Statements, Rs. 926.84 Lakhs, or approximately 37.22% of our total trade receivables had been outstanding for a period exceeding six months from their respective due dates. Additionally, we may claim for more payments from our clients for additional work and costs incurred in excess of the contract price or amounts not included in the contract price. These claims typically arise from changes in the initial scope of work or from delays caused by the clients. The costs associated with these changes or client caused delays include additional direct costs and indirect costs.

We may not always have the protection of escalation clauses in our contracts or supplemental agreement in respect of the additional work to support our claims. Where we have escalation clauses in our agreements, we may seek to enforce our contractual rights through various remedies available to the Company in law and in equity. However, our customers may interpret such clauses restrictively and dispute our claims. These claims are thus often subject to lengthy arbitration, litigation or other dispute resolution proceedings. We cannot assure you that we may be able to recover, in part or full, any such present or future claims. Further, our debtors may have insufficient assets to pay the amounts owed to us even if such proceedings are decided in our favour. In addition, we may incur substantial costs in collecting against our debtors and such costs may not be recovered in full or at all from the debtors. As we often need to fulfil significant working capital requirements in our operations, delayed collection of receivables or inadequate recovery on our claims could materially and adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.

- 27. Any failure to accurately estimate the overall risks, revenues or costs in respect of a project, may adversely affect our profitability and results of operations. Our actual cost in executing a contract may vary substantially from the assumptions underlying our bid in the tender. We may be unable to recover all or some of the additional expenses, which may have a material adverse effect on our results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

Under the terms and conditions of agreements for our projects, we generally agree to receive from the customers an agreed sum of money, subject to contract variations covering changes in the customers' project requirements. We may enter into agreements for the operating or installing the software product in the future which may not contain price escalation clauses covering increase in the cost of technical personnel, maintenance and other factors. Accordingly, our actual expense in providing our service may vary substantially from the assumptions underlying our bid. Our ability to pass-on increases in the costs may be limited in the case of contracts with limited or no price escalation provisions and there can be no assurance that these variations in cost will not lead to financial losses to our Company, which could have a material adverse effect on our cash flows, business, financial condition and results of operations.

- 28. We may not be successful in implementing our business strategies.

The success of our business depends substantially on our ability to implement our business strategies effectively. Even though we have successfully executed our business strategies in the past, there is no guarantee that we can implement the same on time and within the estimated budget going forward, or that we will be able to meet the expectations of our targeted clients. Changes in regulations applicable to us may also make it difficult to implement our business strategies. Failure to implement our business strategies would have a material adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

- 29. We could be harmed by employee misconduct or errors that are difficult to detect and any such incidences could adversely affect our financial condition, results of operations and reputation.

Employee misconduct or errors could expose us to business risks or losses, including regulatory sanctions and cause serious harm to our reputation and goodwill of our Company. There can be no assurance that we will be able to detect or deter such misconduct. Moreover, the precautions we take to prevent and detect such activity may not be effective in all cases. Our employees and agents may also commit errors that could subject us to claims and proceedings for alleged negligence, as well as regulatory actions on account of which our business, financial condition, results of operations and goodwill could be adversely affected.

30. We do not own our Registered Office and other premises from which we operate.

Our Company does not own its Registered Office situated at The Pentagon, Unit-5A, 5th Floor, next to Satara Road, Telephone Exchange, Shahu College Road, Pune – 411 009, Maharashtra, India. Further, our other offices are also occupied by our Company on leasehold basis. For further details in relation to our Properties, please refer to the section titled – Land and Property in the chapter titled "Our Business" beginning on page 151 of this Prospectus.

We cannot assure that we will be able to renew our leases on commercially favourable terms or at all in future. We also cannot assure you that we will be permitted to use any of our leased properties on a continuous basis. In the event that we are required to vacate the aforementioned premises, we would be required to make alternative arrangements for new offices and other infrastructure and we cannot assure that the new arrangements will be on commercially acceptable terms. In the event, we are unable to continue to use the premises or renew the lease agreement on favourable terms or at all, we may suffer disruption in our business and administrative operations, which may have an adverse effect on the business, financial condition and results of operations on our Company.

31. Consolidation in the industry, particularly by large, well-capitalised companies, could place pressure on our operating margins which could, in turn, have a material adverse effect on our business.

Acquisitions by large, well-capitalised technology companies have been a continuing factor in IT industry. Many small companies have been acquired by the larger counter parts which have changed the marketplace for our software products and services by replacing competitors which are larger in size to us, with companies that have more resources to compete with us. They also have the ability to introduce products that compete with our software products and services. For instance, 2 of our initial products were acquired by CSC (UK) Ltd. in year 2011.

The threat posed by larger competitors and their ability to use their economies of scale to sell competing products and services at a lower cost may materially impact our sales and the profit margins that we earn on the software products and its services we provide in the marketplace.

32. Conflicts of interest may arise out of common business objects of our Promoter Group entities.

One of our Promoter Group Entity, CoVisible Solutions India Private Limited ("CSIPL") has similar objects as those which are carried on by our Company. At present, CSIPL is non-operational and therefore has not generated any revenue in the previous years. Owing to similar objects, conflict of interests may arise as and when CSIPL re-starts operating again, in allocating business opportunities amongst our Company and Promoter Group Entity in circumstances where our respective interests diverge. Further, we do not have any non-compete agreement / arrangement with CSIPL. In cases of conflict, our Promoter may favour other company in which our Promoter has interests. There can be no assurance that our Promoter or members of the Promoter Group will not compete with our existing business or any future business that we may undertake or that their interests will not conflict with ours. Any such present and future conflicts could have a material adverse effect on our reputation, business, results of operations and financial condition.

33. We have in the past entered into related party transactions and may continue to do so in the future.

Our Company has entered into various transactions with our Promoter, Promoter Group, Directors and their Relatives in the past and from, time to time.

While we believe that all such transactions entered into are legitimate business transaction and are conducted on arm's length basis, there can be no assurance that we could not have achieved more favourable terms had such transactions not entered into with related parties. Furthermore, we will continue to enter into related party transactions in future. There can be no assurance that such transactions, individually or in aggregate, will not have an adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operation.

For details on the transactions entered by us, please refer to chapter “Related Party Transactions” beginning on page 210 of the Prospectus.

34. We require a number of approvals, NOCs, licenses, registrations and permits in the ordinary course of our business. Any failure or delay in obtaining the same in a timely manner may adversely affect our operations.

Our business operations require us to obtain and renew from time to time, certain approvals, licenses, registrations and permits, some of which may have expired or may expire in the near future and we may be in the process of making an application to obtain such approval or its renewal. We need to apply for renewal of approvals which expire, from time to time, as and when required in the ordinary course of business. Our Company was converted into a public company limited by shares pursuant to shareholders approval dated February 22, 2018. Pursuant to our conversion from a private limited company to a public limited company, we are required to take necessary steps for reflecting the new name of our Company in all the certificates, licenses, consents and approvals granted to our company.

Any failure to renew the approvals that have expired, or to apply for and obtain the required approvals, licenses, registrations or permits, or any suspension or revocation of any of the approvals, licenses, registrations and permits that have been or may be issued to us, could result in delaying the operations of our business, which may adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects. We cannot assure you that the approvals, licenses, registrations and permits issued to us would not be suspended or revoked to any regulatory action. Additionally, as on the date of filing this Prospectus, our Company has not applied for change of its name in all the licenses, consents, approvals granted to the Company. For more information, see chapter “Government and Other Statutory Approvals” on page 243 of this Prospectus.

35. If we are unable to source business opportunities effectively, we may not achieve our financial objectives.

Our ability to achieve our financial objectives will depend on our ability to identify, evaluate and accomplish business opportunities. To grow our business, we will need to hire, train, supervise and manage new employees, expand our distribution and business network and to implement systems capable of effectively accommodating our growth. However, we cannot assure you that any such employees will contribute to the success of our business or that we will implement such systems effectively. Our failure to source substantial business opportunities effectively could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. It also is possible that the strategies used by us in the future may be different from those presently in use. No assurance can be given that our analyses of market and other data or the strategies we use or plans in future to use will be successful under various market conditions.

36. We have certain contingent liabilities that have not been provided for in our Company’s financials which if materialised, could adversely affect our financial condition.

Our Company has certain contingent liabilities as on the date of Restated Financial Statements, the details of which are as under:

(Amount in Rs. Lakhs)

Particulars	31-Oct-17	31-Mar-17	31-Mar-16	31-Mar-15

37. Our insurance coverage may not be adequate.

Our Company has obtained insurance coverage in respect of certain risks. We have taken insurance policies such as Standard Fire and Special Perils Policy. While we believe that we maintain insurance coverage in adequate amounts consistent with size of our business, our insurance policies do not cover all risks, specifically risks like loss of profits, losses due to terrorism, etc. Further, there can be no assurance that our insurance policies will be adequate to cover the losses in respect of which the insurance has been availed. If we suffer a significant uninsured loss or if insurance claim in respect of the subject-matter of insurance is not accepted or any insured loss suffered by us significantly exceeds our insurance coverage, our business, financial condition and results of operations may be materially and adversely affected.

For further details, please refer chapter titled “Our Business” beginning on page 151 of this Prospectus.

38. Our Company has certain unsecured loans which are repayable on demand. Any demand loan from lenders for repayment of such unsecured loans, may adversely affect our cash flows.

As on October 31, 2017, our Company has unsecured loans amounting to Rs. 414.93 lakhs from related and other parties that are repayable on demand to the relevant lender. Further, some of these loans are not repayable in accordance with any agreed repayment schedule and may be recalled by the relevant lender at any time. Any such unexpected demand or accelerated repayment may have a material adverse effect on the business, cash flows and financial condition of the borrower against which repayment is sought. Any demand from lenders for repayment of such unsecured loans, may adversely affect our cash flows. For further details of unsecured loans of our Company, please refer the chapter titled “Financial Statements as Restated” beginning on page 212 of this Prospectus.

39. Our lenders have imposed certain restrictive conditions on us under our financing arrangements. Under our financing arrangements, we are required to obtain the prior, written lender consent for, among other matters, changes in our capital structure, formulate a scheme of amalgamation or reconstruction and entering into any other borrowing arrangement. Further, we are required to maintain certain financial ratios.

As on October 31, 2017, we had a total debt of Rs. 1,840.36 Lakhs. We have entered into certain understandings/ arrangements for these borrowings. Some of these understandings/ arrangements contain requirements to maintain certain security margins, financial ratios and contain restrictive covenants relating to issuance of new shares, changes in capital structure, making material changes to constitutional documents, implementing any expansion scheme, incurring further indebtedness, encumbrances on, or disposal of assets and paying dividends. For further details, refer page 231 for “Statement of Financial Indebtedness”. There can be no assurance that we will be able to comply with these financial or other covenants or that we will be able to obtain the consents necessary to take the actions we believe are necessary to operate and grow our business. Our level of existing debt and any new debt that we incur in the future has important consequences. Any failure to comply with these requirements or other conditions or covenants under our financing agreements that is not waived by our lenders or is not otherwise cured by us, may require us to repay the borrowing in whole or part and may include other related costs. Our Company may be forced to sell some or all of its assets or limit our operations. This may adversely affect our ability to conduct our business and impair our future growth plans. For further information, see the chapter titled “Financial Indebtedness” on page 231 of the Prospectus.

Though these covenants are restrictive to some extent for us, however it ensures financial discipline, which would help us in the long run to improve our financial performance.

40. Statement made by Erstwhile Statutory Auditor P.G. Bhagwat, Chartered Accountants in its Audit Report for the FY 2012-13 and FY 2013-14

In the past, our erstwhile statutory auditor P.G. Bhagwat, Chartered Accountants reported in its Audit Reports for the Financial Years 2012-13 and 2013-14 that Company does not have internal audit system. However, response of the management of the Company in respect of the same is also disclosed in the said Audit Reports was that the management closely monitors the business and the day to day transactions of the Company and was in process of setting up an internal audit system. In the subsequent year, Company developed internal audit system and the said remark was not in the subsequent financials.

41. We have taken guarantees from Promoter and members of Promoter Group in relation to debt facilities provided to us.

We have taken guarantees from Promoter and members of Promoter Group in relation to our secured debt facilities availed from our lenders. In an event any of these persons withdraw or terminate its/their guarantees, the lender for such facilities may ask for alternate guarantees, repayment of amounts outstanding under such facilities, or even terminate such facilities. We may not be successful in procuring guarantees satisfactory to the lender and as a result may need to repay outstanding amounts under such facilities or seek additional sources of capital, which could adversely affect our financial condition.

For more information please see the chapter titled “Financial Indebtedness” beginning on page 231 of this Prospectus.

42. Our lenders have charge over our movable properties in respect of finance availed by us.

We have secured our lenders by creating a charge over our movable properties in respect of loans / facilities availed by us from banks and financial institutions. The total amounts outstanding and payable by us as secured loans were Rs. 1,425.43 Lakhs as on October 31, 2017. In the event, we default in repayment of the loans / facilities availed by us and any interest thereof, our properties may be forfeited by lenders, which in turn could have significant adverse effect on business, financial condition or results of operations.

For further information on the Financial Indebtedness please refer to page 231 of this Prospectus.

43. Within the parameters as mentioned in the chapter titled ‘Objects of this Offer’ beginning on page 100 of this Prospectus, our Company’s management will have flexibility in applying the proceeds of this Offer. The fund requirement and deployment mentioned in the Objects of this Offer have not been appraised by any bank or financial institution.

We intend to use entire Offer Proceeds towards meeting research and development, marketing activities, repayment of certain loans and general corporate purposes. Such deployment is based on certain assumptions and strategy which our Company believes to implement in near future. The funds raised from the Offer may remain idle on account of change in assumptions, market conditions, strategy of our Company, etc., For further details on the use of the Offer Proceeds, please refer chapter titled “Objects of the Offer” beginning on page 100 of this Prospectus. The deployment of funds for the purposes described above is at the discretion of our Company’s Board of Directors.

The fund requirement and deployment is based on internal management estimates and has not been appraised by any bank or financial institution. Accordingly, within the parameters as mentioned in the chapter titled “Objects of the Offer” beginning on page 100 of this Prospectus, the Management will have significant flexibility in applying the proceeds received by our Company from the Offer. Our Board of Directors along with the Audit Committee will monitor the utilization of the proceeds of this Offer and prepare the statement for utilization of the proceeds of this Offer.

44. We have not made any alternate arrangements for meeting our capital requirements for the Objects of the offer. Further we have not identified any alternate source of financing the ‘Objects of the Offer’. Any shortfall in raising / meeting the same could adversely affect our growth plans, operations and financial performance.

As on date, we have not made any alternate arrangements for meeting our capital requirements for the objects of the offer. We meet our capital requirements through our bank finance, unsecured loans, owned funds and internal accruals. Any shortfall in our net owned funds, internal accruals and our inability to raise debt in future would result in us being unable to meet our capital requirements, which in turn will negatively affect our financial condition and results of operations. Further, we have not identified any alternate source of funding and hence any failure or delay on our part to raise money from this Offer or any shortfall in the Offer proceeds may delay the implementation schedule and could adversely affect our growth plans. For further details please refer to the chapter titled “Objects of the Offer” beginning on page 100 of this Prospectus.

45. Our ability to pay dividends in the future will depend upon our future earnings, financial condition, cash flows, working capital requirements, capital expenditure and restrictive covenants in our financing arrangements.

Our Company has declared and paid dividends for the fiscals 2017, 2016, 2015, 2014 and 2013 on the Equity Shares at the rate of 10.00%, 5.00%, 5.00%, 5.00% and 5.00% respectively. We may retain all our future earnings, if any, for use in the operations and expansion of our business. As a result, we may not declare dividends in the foreseeable future. Any future determination as to the declaration and payment of dividends will be at the discretion of our Board of Directors and will depend on factors that our Board of Directors deem relevant, including among others, our results of operations, financial condition, cash requirements, business prospects and any other financing arrangements. Accordingly, realization of a gain on shareholders investments may largely depend upon the appreciation of the price of our Equity Shares. There can be no assurance that our Equity Shares will appreciate in value. For details of our dividend history, see “Dividend Policy” on page 211 of this Prospectus.

46. Our future funds requirements, in the form of issue of capital or securities and/or loans taken by us, may be prejudicial to the interest of the shareholders depending upon the terms on which they are eventually raised.

We may require additional capital from time to time depending on our business needs. Any issue of shares or convertible securities would dilute the shareholding of the existing shareholders and such issuance may be done on terms and conditions, which may not be favourable to the then existing shareholders. If such funds are raised in the form of loans or debt, then it may substantially increase our interest burden and decrease our cash flows, thus prejudicially affecting our profitability and ability to pay dividends to our shareholders.

47. The deployment of funds raised through this Offer shall not be subject to any Monitoring Agency and shall be purely dependent on the discretion of the management of our Company.

Since, the Offer size is less than Rs.10,000 lakh and as per the provisions of Regulation 16 (1) of the SEBI ICDR Regulations, there is no mandatory requirement of appointing an Independent Monitoring Agency for overseeing the deployment of utilization of funds raised through this Offer. The deployment of these funds raised through this Offer, is hence, at the discretion of the management and the Board of Directors of our Company and will not be subject to monitoring by any independent agency. Any inability on our part to effectively utilize the Offer proceeds could adversely affect our financials.

However, our Audit Committee will monitor the utilization of the proceeds of this Offer and prepare the statement for utilization of the proceeds of this Offer. However, in accordance with Section 27 of the Companies Act, 2013, a company shall not vary the objects of the Offer without our Company being authorised to do so by our shareholders by way of special resolution and other compliances as applicable in this regard. Our Promoter and controlling shareholder shall provide exit opportunity to such shareholders who do not agree to the proposal to vary the objects, at such price, and in such manner, as may be prescribed by SEBI, in this regard.

48. Our success depends largely upon the services of our Directors, Promoter and other Key Managerial Personnel and our ability to attract and retain them. Demand for Key Managerial Personnel in the industry is intense and our inability to attract and retain Key Managerial Personnel may affect the operations of our Company.

Our success is substantially dependent on the expertise and services of our Directors, Promoter and our Key Managerial Personnel (“KMP”). They provide expertise which enables us to make well informed decisions in relation to our business and our future prospects. Our future performance will depend upon the continued services of these persons. Demand for KMP in the industry is intense. We cannot assure you that we will be able to retain any or all, or that our succession planning will help to replace, the key members of our management. The loss of the services of such key members of our management team and the failure of any succession plans to replace such key members could have an adverse effect on our business and the results of our operations.

49. In addition to normal remuneration or benefits and reimbursement of expenses, some of our Directors and key managerial personnel are interested in our Company to the extent of their shareholding and dividend entitlement in our Company.

Our Whole-time Director (including Vijay Gupta, our Chairman & Managing Director and Priti Gupta, our Whole-time Director) who are also our Key Managerial Personnel (“KMP”) have interests in our Company, in addition to regular remuneration or benefits and reimbursement of expenses. Some of our Directors and KMP may also be interested to the extent of their shareholding and dividend entitlement in our Company. For further information, see “Capital Structure” and “Our Management” on pages 75 and 184, respectively, of this Prospectus.

50. Our Promoter and members of the Promoter Group will continue jointly to retain majority control over our Company after the Offer, which will allow them to determine the outcome of matters submitted to shareholders for approval.

As on the date of this Prospectus, our Promoter and members of the Promoter Group hold 56.92% of the issued, subscribed and paid-up share capital of our Company. After completion of the Offer, our Promoter and Promoter Group will collectively own 42.59 % of the Equity Shares. As a result, our Promoter together with the members of the Promoter Group will be able to exercise a significant degree of influence over us and will be able to control the outcome of any proposal that can be approved by a majority shareholder vote, including, the election of members to our Board, in accordance with the Companies Act and our Articles of Association. Such a concentration of ownership may also have the effect of delaying, preventing or deterring a change in control of our Company.

In addition, our Promoter will continue to have the ability to cause us to take actions that are not in, or may conflict with, our interests or the interests of some or all of our creditors or minority shareholders, and we cannot assure you that such actions will not have an adverse effect on our future financial performance or the price of our Equity Shares.

51. Certain agreements may be inadequately stamped or may not have been registered as a result of which our operations may be adversely affected.

Few of our agreements may not be stamped adequately or registered. The effect of inadequate stamping is that the document is not admissible as evidence in legal proceedings and parties to that agreement may not be able to legally enforce the same, except after paying a penalty for inadequate stamping. The effect of non-registration, in certain cases, is to make the document inadmissible in legal proceedings. Any potential dispute due to non-compliance of local laws relating to stamp duty and registration may adversely impact the operations of our Company.

These fluctuations may have adverse effect on our reported results or our overall financial condition.

This price is based on numerous factors (For further information, please refer chapter titled “Basis for Offer Price” beginning on page 126 of this Prospectus) and may not be indicative of the market price of our Equity Shares after the Offer. The market price of our Equity Shares could be subject to significant fluctuations after the Offer, and may decline below the Offer Price. We cannot assure you that you will be able to sell your Equity Shares at or above the Offer Price. Among the factors that could affect our share price include without limitation. The following:

INDUSTRY RISKS

59. Changes in government regulations or their implementation could disrupt our operations and adversely affect our business and results of operations.

Our business and industry is regulated by different laws, rules and regulations framed by the Central and State Government. These regulations can be amended/ changed on a short notice at the discretion of the Government. If we fail to comply with all applicable regulations or if the regulations governing our business or their implementation change adversely, we may incur increased costs or be subject to penalties, which could disrupt our operations and adversely affect our business and results of operations.

OTHER RISKS

60. Significant differences exist between Indian GAAP and other accounting principles, such as U.S. GAAP and IFRS, which may be material to the financial statements prepared and presented in accordance with SEBI ICDR Regulations contained in this Prospectus.

As stated in the reports of the Auditor included in this Prospectus under chapter "Financial Statements as restated" beginning on page 212, the financial statements included in this Prospectus are based on financial information that is based on the audited financial statements that are prepared and presented in conformity with Indian GAAP and restated in accordance with the SEBI ICDR Regulations, and no attempt has been made to reconcile any of the information given in this Prospectus to any other principles or to base it on any other standards. Any reliance by persons not familiar with Indian GAAP on the financial disclosures presented in this Prospectus should accordingly be limited.

61. You may be subject to Indian taxes arising out of capital gains on the sale of the Equity.

Under the Income-tax Act, 1961, capital gains arising from the sale of equity shares in an Indian company are generally taxable in India except any gain realised on the sale of shares on a stock exchange held for more than 12 months will not be subject to capital gains tax in India if the Securities Transaction Tax ("STT") has been paid on the transaction. The STT will be levied on and collected by an Indian stock exchange on which equity shares are sold. Any gain realised on the sale of shares held for more

Further, any gain realised on the sale of listed equity shares held for a period of 12 months or less which are sold other than on a recognised stock exchange and on which no STT has been paid, will be subject to short term capital gains tax at a relatively higher rate as compared to the transaction where STT has been paid in India.

In Finance Bill 2017, Section 10(38) was amended to provide that exemption under this section for income arising on transfer of equity share acquired on or after 1st day of October 2004 shall be available only if the acquisition of share is chargeable to STT under Chapter VII of the Finance (No 2) Act, 2004. In this case, this provision becomes effective, sale shares acquired on or after 1st day of October 2004 on which STT was not charged will attract tax under provisions of Long Term Capital Gains

As per Finance Bill 2018, exemption under section 10(38) for income arising from long term gains on transfer of equity share shall not be available on or after 1st day of April 2018 if the long term capital gains exceeds Rs. 1,00,000/- p.a. Such income arising from long term gains on transfer of equity share on or after 1st day of April 2018 in excess of Rs. 1,00,000/- pa. shall be chargeable at the rate of 10%.

Capital gains arising from the sale of shares will be exempt from taxation in India in cases where an exemption is provided under a tax treaty between India and the country of which the seller is a resident. Generally, Indian tax treaties do not limit India's ability to impose tax on capital gains. As a result, residents of other countries may be liable for tax in India as well as in their own jurisdictions on gains arising from a sale of the shares subject to relief available under the applicable tax treaty or under the laws of their own jurisdiction.

62. Taxes and other levies imposed by the Government of India or other State Governments, as well as other financial policies and regulations, may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Taxes and other levies imposed by the Central or State Governments in India that affect our industry include:

- Goods and service tax; and
- Other new or special taxes and surcharges introduced on a permanent or temporary basis from time to time.

These taxes and levies affect the cost and prices of our products and therefore demand for our product. An increase in any of these taxes or levies, or the imposition of new taxes or levies in the future, may have a material adverse effect on our business, profitability and financial condition.

63. Financial instability in Indian financial markets could adversely affect our Company's results of operations and financial condition.

In this globalized world, the Indian economy and financial markets are significantly influenced by worldwide economic, financial and market conditions. Any financial turmoil, say in the United States of America, Europe, China or other emerging economies, may have a negative impact on the Indian economy. Although economic conditions differ in each country, investors' reactions to any significant developments in one country can have adverse effects on the financial and market conditions in other countries. A loss in investor confidence in the financial systems, particularly in other emerging markets, may cause increased volatility in Indian financial markets. Indian financial markets have also experienced the contagion effect of the global financial turmoil. Any prolonged financial crisis may have an adverse impact on the Indian economy, thereby resulting in a material and adverse effect on our Company's business, operations, financial condition, profitability and price of its Shares. Stock exchanges in India have in the past experienced substantial fluctuations in the prices of listed securities.

64. Political instability or a change in economic liberalization and deregulation policies could seriously harm business and economic conditions in India generally and our business in particular.

The GoI has traditionally exercised and continues to exercise influence over many aspects of the economy. Our business and the market price and liquidity of our Equity Shares may be affected by interest rates, changes in Government policy, taxation, social and civil unrest and other political, economic or other developments in or affecting India. The rate of economic liberalization could change, and specific laws and policies affecting the information technology sector, foreign investment and other matters affecting investment in our securities could change as well. Any significant change in such liberalization and deregulation policies could adversely affect business and economic conditions in India, generally, and our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations, in particular.

65. Global economic, political and social conditions may harm our ability to do business, increase our costs and negatively affect our stock price.

Global economic and political factors that are beyond our control, influence forecasts and directly affect performance. These factors include interest rates, rates of economic growth, fiscal and monetary policies of governments, inflation, deflation, foreign exchange fluctuations, consumer credit availability, fluctuations in commodities markets, consumer debt levels, unemployment trends and other matters that influence consumer confidence, spending and tourism. Increasing volatility in financial markets may cause these factors to change with a greater degree of frequency and magnitude, which may negatively affect our stock prices.

66. Foreign investors are subject to foreign investment restrictions under Indian law that limits our ability to attract foreign investors, which may adversely impact the market price of the Equity Shares.

Under the foreign exchange regulations currently in force in India, transfers of shares between non-residents and residents are freely permitted (subject to certain exceptions) if they comply with the pricing guidelines and reporting requirements specified by the RBI. If the transfer of shares, which are sought to be transferred, is not in compliance with such pricing guidelines or reporting requirements or fall under any of the exceptions referred to above, then the prior approval of the RBI will be required. Additionally, shareholders who seek to convert the Rupee proceeds from a sale of shares in India into foreign currency and repatriate that foreign currency from India will require a no objection/ tax clearance certificate from the income tax authority. There can be no assurance that any approval required from the RBI or any other government agency can be obtained on any particular terms or at all.

67. The extent and reliability of Indian infrastructure could adversely affect our Company's results of operations and financial condition.

India's physical infrastructure is in developing phase compared to that of many developed nations. Any congestion or disruption in its port, rail and road networks, electricity grid, communication systems or any other public facility could disrupt our Company's normal business activity. Any deterioration of India's physical infrastructure would harm the national economy, disrupt the transportation of goods and supplies, and add costs to doing business in India. These problems could interrupt our Company's business operations, which could have an adverse effect on its results of operations and financial condition.

68. Any downgrading of India's sovereign rating by an independent agency may harm our ability to raise financing.

Any adverse revisions to India's credit ratings for domestic and international debt by international rating agencies may adversely impact our ability to raise additional financing, and the interest rates and other commercial terms at which such additional financing may be available. This could have an adverse effect on our business and future financial performance, our ability to obtain financing for capital expenditures and the trading price of our Equity Shares.

69. Natural calamities could have a negative impact on the Indian economy and cause our Company's business to suffer.

India has experienced natural calamities such as earthquakes, tsunami, floods etc. in recent years. The extent and severity of these natural disasters determine their impact on the Indian economy. Prolonged spells of abnormal rainfall or other natural calamities could have a negative impact on the Indian economy, which could adversely affect our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations as well as the price of the Equity Shares.

70. Terrorist attacks, civil unrests and other acts of violence or war involving India or other countries could adversely affect the financial markets, our business, financial condition and the price of our Equity Shares.

Any major hostilities involving India or other acts of violence, including civil unrest or similar events that are beyond our control, could have a material adverse effect on India's economy and our business. Incidents such as the terrorist attacks, other incidents such as those in US, Indonesia, Madrid and London, and other acts of violence may adversely affect the Indian stock markets where our Equity Shares will trade as well the global equity markets generally. Such acts could negatively impact business sentiment as well as trade between countries, which could adversely affect our Company's business and profitability. Additionally, such events could have a material adverse effect on the market for securities of Indian companies, including the Equity Shares.

INTRODUCTION TO IT & ITes INDUSTRY

The global sourcing market in India continues to grow at a higher pace compared to the IT-BPM industry. The global IT & ITes market (excluding hardware) reached US$ 1.2 trillion in 2016-17, while the global sourcing market increased by 1.7 times to reach US$ 173-178 billion. India remained the world’s top sourcing destination in 2016-17 with a share of 55 per cent. Indian IT & ITes companies have set up over 1,000 global delivery centres in over 200 cities around the world.

More importantly, the industry has led the economic transformation of the country and altered the perception of India in the global economy. India's cost competitiveness in providing IT services, which is approximately 3-4 times cheaper than the US, continues to be the mainstay of its Unique Selling Proposition (USP) in the global sourcing market. However, India is also gaining prominence in terms of intellectual capital with several global IT firms setting up their innovation centres in India.

The IT industry has also created significant demand in the Indian education sector, especially for engineering and computer science. The Indian IT and ITes industry is divided into four major segments – IT services, Business Process Management (BPM), software products and engineering services, and hardware.

India has come out on top with the highest proportion of digital talent in the country at 76 per cent compared to the global average of 56 per cent!.

GLOBAL ECONOMIC OVERVIEW

According to the International Monetary Fund (IMF), the global economy is experiencing a near-synchronous recovery, the most broad-based since 2010. In 2017, roughly three-quarters of countries experienced improvements in their growth rates, the highest share since 2010. The latest World Economic Outlook (WEO) of the IMF shows global GDP growth accelerated to around 3.6 percent in 2017 from 3.2 percent in 2016, and the forecast for 2018 has been upgraded by 0.2 percentage points to 3.9 percent. Although rebounding, global growth is still well below levels reached in the 2000s.

One reason why the recovery has spread around the globe is that world trade in goods and services has finally emerged from its torpor, registering 4.7 percent real volume growth in 2017 compared with 2.5 percent in 2016. Another reason is that commodity producers such as Russia, Brazil, and Saudi Arabia, which for the past few years been suffering from depressed prices, have benefitted from the upswing in demand. Commodity prices increased smartly in 2017, led by petroleum, whose price rose by 16 percent to reach $61 per barrel by the end of the year.

Even as global growth and commodity prices have surged, inflation has remained remarkably quiescent, remaining below 2 percent in the main advanced regions. Consequently, monetary policies in the US, Eurozone and Japan have remained highly accommodative despite a strong recovery. These unusual settings—rapid growth, ultra-low interest rates—at a late stage in the economic cycle have produced the rarest of combinations: record-high high bond prices and stock market valuations, both at the same time. The consensus forecast calls for these conditions to be sustained in 2018, as companies respond to buoyant demand conditions by stepping up investment, some governments (such as the US) embark on expansionary fiscal policies, while advanced country monetary policies remain stimulative and world trade continues to grow briskly.

What are the risks? Of course, there are the usual geo-political and geo-economic risks: war in the Korean peninsula; political upheaval in the Middle East; aggressive output cuts by Saudi Arabia (and Russia) in advance of the planned listing of the Saudi Arabian oil company, Aramco, which could force oil prices even higher; a final reckoning from China's unprecedented credit surge in the form of capital controls, slowdown in growth, and a sharply depreciating currency with consequences for the global economy (Economic Survey, 2016-17, Chapter 1); and trade tensions that could lead to skirmishes, and then spiral out of control. But perhaps the main risks lie on the macro-finance front in advanced economies. These stem from three, inter-related, sources:

- Asset valuations (price-equity ratios) tend to revert to their mean. And the faster and higher they climb, especially so late in the economic cycle, the greater the risk of sharp corrections.
- Simultaneously high valuations of both bonds and equities tend to be briefly lived because they suffer from an acute tension: if future earnings and economic growth are so bright, justifying high equity prices, interest rates cannot be forever so low.
- And if interest rates rise—or if markets even sense that central banks will need to shift their stance—both bond and equity prices could correct sharply. A plausible scenario would be the following. The IMF is now forecasting that advanced country output gaps will close in 2018 for the first time since the Global Financial Crisis. As this occurs, wages would start rising, eating into profits (which would prick equity valuations); and as inflation rises in tandem, policy makers would be forced into raising rates, deflating bond valuations and further undermining share prices.

What would happen to growth if asset prices correct? Surely, the impact would be far smaller than it was in 2007-09, because advanced countries are far less vulnerable than they were a decade ago. In particular, the leverage tied to these assets is much lower, which would minimize contagious propagation; while banks are much better buffered, with higher levels of capital and core deposits, and lower levels of risky assets.

Even so, there would be some consequences. For one, a large decline in wealth would force advanced country consumers to cut back on their spending, which in turn would lead firms to curtail their investments. And if this happens, monetary and fiscal policies would have much less room for expansionary manoeuvre since interest rates are already low while government debts are high. And the political implications of yet another decline in asset prices, the second in a decade, could also be significant, with effects that are difficult to imagine.

In sum, assessing future risks hinges on two calls: interest rate policy and asset valuations. On policy, extraordinarily low rates have, to paraphrase Paul Krugman, become “an obsession in search of a justification.” Initially justified by the dislocations caused by the Global Financial Crisis, then by large output gaps, they are now defended on the grounds that inflation remains weak, even as the slack in product and labor markets is disappearing rapidly. Will the gathering new evidence on closing output gaps and rising employment dispel that obsession?

On valuations, the prognosticator must navigate a narrow strait: steering clear of the “Cry of Wolf” trap (bond prices will finally, finally correct, having defied the prediction of correction in each of the last several years), without succumbing to the siren call of “This Time is Different” (stock valuations are sustainable this time because interest rates will remain at historic lows).

OVERVIEW OF INDIA’S ECONOMIC PERFORMANCE IN 2017-18

Economic activity

The key question going forward is whether the economy has troughed, and if so at what pace it will recover toward its medium term trend. High frequency indicators do suggest that a robust recovery is taking hold as reflected in a variety of indicators, including overall GVA, manufacturing GVA, the IIP, gross capital formation (Figure 17) and exports.

Similarly, real non-food credit growth has rebounded to 4 percent in November 2017 on a year-on-year basis, while the squeeze on real credit to industry is abating (Figure 18). Moreover, the flow of nonbank resources to the corporate sector, such as bond market borrowing and lending by NBFCs, has increased by 43 percent (April-December 2017 compared to the same period a year ago), substituting in part for weak bank credit. Rural demand, proxied by motor cycle sales, and auto sales, while not yet back to its pre-demonetization trend, are recovering (Figures 19 and 20).

Perhaps most significantly, the behaviour of manufacturing exports and imports in the second and third quarters of this fiscal year has started to reverse. The re-acceleration of export growth to 13.6 percent in the third quarter of FY2018 and deceleration of import growth to 13.1 percent, in line with global trends, suggest that the demonetization and GST effects are receding. Services export and private remittances are also rebounding (Figure 21).

On demonetization specifically, the cash-to-GDP ratio has stabilized, suggesting a return to equilibrium. The evidence is that since about June 2017 the trend in currency is identical to that pre-demonetization (Figure 22). The stabilization also permits estimation of the impact of demonetization: about Rs. 2.8 lakh Crores less cash (1.8 percent of GDP) and about Rs. 3.8 lakh Crores less high denomination notes (2.5 percent of GDP).

A final, important factor explaining the growth recovery is fiscal, which is providing a boost to aggregate demand. For reasons related to smoothening the transition, GST revenues will only be collected for 11 months, which is akin to a tax cut for consumers. Meanwhile, overall revenue expenditure growth by the central and state governments at remains strong at 11.7 percent (April to November). Cyclical conditions may also lead to lower tax and non-tax revenues, which act as an automatic stabilizer.

All this said, while the direction of the indicators is positive, their level remains below potential. IIP growth (April-November 2017 over same period in the previous year) is 3.2 percent, real credit growth to industry is still in negative territory, and the growth in world trade remains less than half its level of a decade ago. Moreover, even though the cost of equity has fallen to low levels, corporates have not raised commensurate amounts of capital, suggesting that their investment plans remain modest (Box 6). In other words, the twin engines that propelled the economy's take-off in the mid-2000s – exports and investment – are continuing to run below take-off speed.

Meanwhile, developments in the agriculture sector bear monitoring. The trend acceleration in rural wages (agriculture and non-agriculture), which had occurred through much of 2016 because of increased activity on the back of a strong monsoon, seems to have decelerated beginning just before the kharif season of 2017-18 (Figure 23) but it is still greater than much of the last three years. Three crop-specific developments are evident. Sowing has been lower in both kharif and rabi, reducing the demand for labor. The acreage for kharif and rabi for 2017-18 is estimated to have declined by 6.1 percent and 0.5 percent, respectively. Pulses and oilseeds have seen an increase in sowing, but this has translated into unusually low farmgate prices (below their minimum support price, MSP), again affecting farm revenues. The so-called TOP perishables (tomatoes, onions, and potatoes) have meanwhile fluctuated between high and low prices, engendering income uncertainty for farmers.

The CSO has forecast real GDP growth for 2017-18 at 6.5 percent. However, this estimate has not fully factored in the latest developments in the third quarter, especially the greater-than-CSO-forecast exports and government contributions to demand. Accordingly, real GDP growth for 2017-18 as a whole is expected to be close to 6 3/4 percent. Given real GDP growth of 6 percent in the first half, this implies that growth in the second half would rebound to 7.5 percent, aided by favourable base effects, especially in the fourth quarter.

Average CPI inflation for the first nine months has averaged 3.2 percent and is projected to reach 3.7 percent for the year as a whole. This implies average CPI inflation in the last quarter of 5 percent, in line with the RBI's forecast. Therefore, the GDP deflator is expected to grow by 3.6 percent for 2017-18, somewhat higher than the CSO's forecast of 2.8 percent. Consequentially, nominal GDP growth is estimated at 10.5 percent, compared with the CSO's 9.5 percent estimate.

Illustration of Book Building and Price Discovery Process: (Investors should note that this example is solely for illustrative purposes and is not specific to the Offer)

Bidders can bid at any price within the price band. For instance, assume a price band of Rs. 20 to Rs.24 per equity share, offer size of 3,000 equity shares and receipt of five bids from bidders, details of which are shown in the table below. A graphical representation of the consolidated demand and price would be made available at the bidding centers during the bidding period. The illustrative book below shows the demand for the equity shares of the issuer company at various prices and is collated from bids received from various investors.

Bid Quantity	Bid Amount(₹)	Cumulative Quantity	Subscription
500	24	500	16.67%
1,000	23	1,500	50.00%
1,500	22	3,000	100.00%
2,000	21	5,000	166.67%
2,500	20	7,500	250.00%

The price discovery is a function of demand at various prices. The highest price at which the issuer is able to issue the desired number of shares is the price at which the book cuts off, i.e., Rs. 22.00 in the above example. The issuer, in consultation with the Book Running Lead Manager will finalize the offer price at or below such cut-off price, i.e., at or below Rs. 22.00. All bids at or above this offer price and cut-off bids are valid bids and are considered for allocation in the respective categories.

Steps to be taken by the Bidders for Bidding:

- (1) Check eligibility for making a Bid (see chapter titled “Offer Procedure” on page 273 of this Prospectus);
- (2) Ensure that you have a demat account and the demat account details are correctly mentioned in the Bid cum Application Form;

- (5) Ensure that the Bid cum Application Form is duly completed as per instructions given in the Prospectus and in the Bid cum Application Form;

DETAILS OF THE OBJECTS

1. Product Development and Enhancement Costs:

Our Company, being a software product innovation company, caters to the Architecture, Engineering and Construction (“AEC”) verticals using IT expertise. Our Company has developed three products namely AutoDCR, PWIMS and OPTICON till date. Our Company intends to enhance these products further by introduction of new features. Apart from this, our Company intends to develop three new products namely BIMDCR, IBPS and RuleBuddy (Out of which our Company has commenced development of BIMDCR and RuleBuddy). The total cost of enhancement of existing products is estimated to be Rs. 482.00 lakhs. Similarly, the total cost of development of new products is estimated to be Rs. 346.00 lakhs. Our Company capitalises the entire product development and enhancement costs, which, based on the past performance and experience, works out to be about 80% of the total salary costs of the product development and enhancement team.

A. Development of New Products:

Our Company intends to develop following products from the amount raised through the Net Proceeds:

I. BIMDCR

- a) Introduction: The need for effective implementation of single-window clearance systems and faster construction permit approval process can facilitate citizens/ Architects obtain approvals on a single model within a set time period. Building and layout plans in any city have to essentially comply with the corresponding Development Control (DC) Rules and building bye laws. Due to the complexity of these rules and the involvement of various stakeholders in their scrutiny and approval, the process faces several challenges viz.: Complex rules and bye laws and their interpretation & increased chances of human errors due to manual submission and scrutiny.

To overcome these challenges, BIMDCR helps –

- To organize complete integration of all relevant factors in the building lifecycle;
- To strengthen interaction between all stakeholders in AEC vertical;
- Maintain single and shared source of information in decision making during building construction lifecycle;
- Save time & cost with greater accuracy in estimation while making design with less alterations, lesser work and maintains consistent data.

- b) Current Features: The manual process of building scrutiny is an extremely time consuming process. BIMDCR model scrutiny engine automatically reads 3D building model submitted by applicant/architect, maps geometrical objects with prevailing building regulations and automatically generates area calculation tables and scrutiny reports ensuring accurate and thorough scrutiny of building. Scrutiny application includes-

Module 1 - Model Checker

- Auto Detection of modelling errors ;
- Facility to mark objects e.g. plot, surrounding details like road etc; and
- Preliminary DC Rules checking.

Module 2 - Model Compliance

- Mapping of objects to relevant DC Rules (Architectural model);
 - Compliance checking;
 - Auto boundary generation (FSI, Carpet area, Margins /set- backs);
 - Generation of Various reports;
 - Detail scrutiny report with DC Rule reference;
 - Interactive scrutiny report with object highlighting; and
 - Failed list report with scrutiny status.
- c) Way Ahead: The next version of BIMDCR will enable automated checking of serviceability parameters and converting scrutinized model in 2D and 3D PDF format. Cost reduction is targeted by removing dependency on any third party BIM application.
- Creation of IFC based pre-processor with GUIs for Desktop application. This will make Makes the solution Independent of any 3D BIM modeler platform;
 - Creation of 2D PDF which will facilitates the stakeholders to have layout plans in printable format;
 - Creation of 3D PDF which will maintain data consistency across all stakeholders of the project;
 - Automatic checking of green building norms; and
 - Automatic checking of fire, traffic and MEP norms.

II. IBPS (Intelligent Building Permit System)

- a) Introduction: IBPS is a next generation innovative, intelligent and collaborative platform to accelerate approval of projects. IBPS assists private consultants to automatically filter applicable building codes and plot information from GIS map. Approving authorities can use IBPS for verifying building plans/models against prevailing building codes, single window workflow engine will allow applicants to submit and track proposals to all departments involved in building permits/ NOCs. Mobile applications for site inspections, energy and safety management features using IoT will help in monitoring and providing timely alerts. Virtual reality/Augmented reality based walkthroughs will help in clear visualization of real time development in the city. IBPS Mission is to - help people Discover, Analyze, and Collaborate at every stage of construction life cycle. We aim to simplify projects approval phases through innovative tools, techniques and teamwork.

IBPS using modern technology to improve building permit process and urban space

- IoT: Data collected from sensors can be used for construction monitoring, safety, energy management etc.
 - VR/AR: Real time view of the city and building data analytics.
 - GIS: Verification of plot parameters and infrastructure services by overlay analysis.
 - Devices and tools: Mobile app for site inspections and video cameras for construction monitoring.
- b) Way Ahead: IBPS is leading way for collaboration and the uniting of all aspects of project approval and monitoring by approving authorities. IBPS strengthens the capabilities of public sector/approving authorities by automating building plan/model scrutiny process, document management, approval workflow and verification of the parameters defined in the city map with the help of IBPS (Intelligent Building Permit system) platform consisting of rule search engine, monitoring engine, CAD/ BIM verification engine, project management engine, meeting management engine, workflow engine and city data engine.
- Automatic verification of documents by image reading and validation. The documents can be OCR and intelligently read to get the meta data (DBS drive) ;

- Get plot information / area boundaries from city data engine;
- Check city level parameters-building to building distance, water front etc. All building services like Water, Electricity, Drainage, Fire Systems, Gas line, Internet line etc. will be connected to city infrastructure by integrating with GIS;
- Capture site coordinates/ site or auto-draw plot/ building boundaries using geo-coordinates based draw boundaries functionality in smart geo app;
- Plan assist feature of site coordinates mapping will overlay boundaries generated by smart geo app with boundaries shown in the submitted drawing and highlight deviations if any;
- Applicant to install sensors devices on site as per guidelines given. Alert for next inspection based on real time construction progress , automatic status updates on addition of any new floor;
- Automatic alerts on any deviation on site against approved plan. Real time data on building height will be captured and compared against approved height in the drawing/ model;
- Identify/ visualize skyline, growth corridor, impact on traffic and infrastructure using 3D walkthroughs and machine leaning analytics (by converting IFC to CityGML);
- Information of in-process/approved facilities on city map-Citizens can find out facilities in the city like completed/ in-process hospitals, schools, malls, banks etc. Citizens can find out shortest distance to any facility and facility layout;
- Using approval data/ augmented reality for disaster management- In case of disaster, occupant will be guided to nearest route, can get all exit details, locations of fire-fighting installations and alarms. Intelligent safety and energy management using IoT. Auto-alerts to fire, police, hospitals etc.;
- Business analytics/ machine learning/ AI- Powerful analytical reports can be generated predicting delays and rejections ratio, analysis of rejection reasons and reforms required, performance rating to officials and applicants. The system will produce quantity, cost, and material and energy requirement.

III. RuleBuddy

- Introduction: RuleBuddy assists architects to create building plans which fit the development control (DC) rules framework during the design stage itself. Creating building plans and designs, while taking into consideration all development control (DC) rules and amendments is a daunting task. Adding to the stress are tight deadlines, limited budgets and faster ROI. RuleBuddy is the portal, which offers instant and easy online access to DC rules. All you have to do is search for a specific term and RuleBuddy will search for rules specific to your term and effectively display the results. RuleBuddy is a true companion to architects for compliance check of building designs with the development control (DC) rules at the design stage itself.
- Current Features: RuleBuddy helps in getting simplified rule details (Architectural) of any specific rule prescribed by any authority just by selecting name of the ULB and rule name/category. RuleBuddy also helps users get detailed filtered set of rules applicable to your project by selecting the project information and by selecting the authority approving the project. Complete set of applicable rules prescribed by authority will help you designing the building/layout thereby exploring architects full creative potential while addressing the city planning norms. RuleBuddy application helps in-
 - Searching for building regulations related to a specific element in your building plan e.g. balcony, Parking space etc;

- Narrow down the search by providing filtering parameters relevant to that specific rule selected;
 - Providing project information and find relevant rules applicable to any specific project;
 - Gain assurance about the compliance of all applicable rules and validity of your project before submitting a building proposal.
- c) Way Ahead: The next version of RuleBuddy® will assist design professionals to retrieve relevant rules information/ DCR books/ Acts/ Circulars/ notifications based on the user defined keywords, rule category and date of publication. RuleBuddy will also help design professionals find out all the information required for getting plans sanctioned from various authorities with the help of graphical process flow and organizational hierarchy diagrams. This service helps design consultants/land owners/ liaising professionals to understand steps followed by authorities in approval and to track the application flow and follow-up with concerned officers. Features targeted in RuleBuddy are-
- Search building regulations in the biggest online library of Development control rule eBooks;
 - Get ULB specific updated list of mandatory/conditional mandatory submission documents applicable to required building proposal application type;
 - Get an overview of approval processes, hierarchy, timelines followed by building/planning permission department of various ULBS;
 - Get scrutiny fees/premium fees/development charges for your project based on the most recent rates cards and fees calculation methods defined by the concerned authority;
 - Rule search for filtering rules applicable to various NOC departments like fire, traffic, MEP etc.

INTRODUCTION TO IT & ITes INDUSTRY

The global sourcing market in India continues to grow at a higher pace compared to the IT-BPM industry. The global IT & ITes market (excluding hardware) reached US$ 1.2 trillion in 2016-17, while the global sourcing market increased by 1.7 times to reach US$ 173-178 billion. India remained the world’s top sourcing destination in 2016-17 with a share of 55 per cent. Indian IT & ITes companies have set up over 1,000 global delivery centres in over 200 cities around the world.

More importantly, the industry has led the economic transformation of the country and altered the perception of India in the global economy. India's cost competitiveness in providing IT services, which is approximately 3-4 times cheaper than the US, continues to be the mainstay of its Unique Selling Proposition (USP) in the global sourcing market. However, India is also gaining prominence in terms of intellectual capital with several global IT firms setting up their innovation centres in India.

The IT industry has also created significant demand in the Indian education sector, especially for engineering and computer science. The Indian IT and ITes industry is divided into four major segments – IT services, Business Process Management (BPM), software products and engineering services, and hardware.

India has come out on top with the highest proportion of digital talent in the country at 76 per cent compared to the global average of 56 per cent!.

GLOBAL ECONOMIC OVERVIEW

According to the International Monetary Fund (IMF), the global economy is experiencing a near-synchronous recovery, the most broad-based since 2010. In 2017, roughly three-quarters of countries experienced improvements in their growth rates, the highest share since 2010. The latest World Economic Outlook (WEO) of the IMF shows global GDP growth accelerated to around 3.6 percent in 2017 from 3.2 percent in 2016, and the forecast for 2018 has been upgraded by 0.2 percentage points to 3.9 percent. Although rebounding, global growth is still well below levels reached in the 2000s. One reason why the recovery has spread around the globe is that world trade in goods and services has finally emerged from its torpor, registering 4.7 percent real volume growth in 2017 compared with 2.5 percent in 2016. Another reason is that commodity producers such as Russia, Brazil, and Saudi Arabia, which for the past few years been suffering from depressed prices, have benefitted from the upswing in demand. Commodity prices increased smartly in 2017, led by petroleum, whose price rose by 16 percent to reach $61 per barrel by the end of the year.

Even as global growth and commodity prices have surged, inflation has remained remarkably quiescent, remaining below 2 percent in the main advanced regions. Consequently, monetary policies in the US, Eurozone and Japan have remained highly accommodative despite a strong recovery. These unusual settings—rapid growth, ultra-low interest rates—at a late stage in the economic cycle have produced the rarest of combinations: record-high high bond prices and stock market valuations, both at the same time. The consensus forecast calls for these conditions to be sustained in 2018, as companies respond to buoyant demand conditions by stepping up investment, some governments (such as the US) embark on expansionary fiscal policies, while advanced country monetary policies remain stimulative and world trade continues to grow briskly.

What are the risks? Of course, there are the usual geo-political and geo-economic risks: war in the Korean peninsula; political upheaval in the Middle East; aggressive output cuts by Saudi Arabia (and Russia) in advance of the planned listing of the Saudi Arabian oil company, Aramco, which could force oil prices even higher; a final reckoning from China's unprecedented credit surge in the form of capital controls, slowdown in growth, and a sharply depreciating currency with consequences for the global economy (Economic Survey, 2016-17, Chapter 1); and trade tensions that could lead to skirmishes, and then spiral out of control. But perhaps the main risks lie on the macro-finance front in advanced economies. These stem from three, inter-related, sources:

- Asset valuations (price-equity ratios) tend to revert to their mean. And the faster and higher they climb, especially so late in the economic cycle, the greater the risk of sharp corrections.
- Simultaneously high valuations of both bonds and equities tend to be briefly lived because they suffer from an acute tension: if future earnings and economic growth are so bright, justifying high equity prices, interest rates cannot be forever so low.
- And if interest rates rise—or if markets even sense that central banks will need to shift their stance—both bond and equity prices could correct sharply. A plausible scenario would be the following. The IMF is now forecasting that advanced country output gaps will close in 2018 for the first time since the Global Financial Crisis. As this occurs, wages would start rising, eating into profits (which would prick equity valuations); and as inflation rises in tandem, policy makers would be forced into raising rates, deflating bond valuations and further undermining share prices.

What would happen to growth if asset prices correct? Surely, the impact would be far smaller than it was in 2007-09, because advanced countries are far less vulnerable than they were a decade ago. In particular, the leverage tied to these assets is much lower, which would minimize contagious propagation; while banks are much better buffered, with higher levels of capital and core deposits, and lower levels of risky assets.

Even so, there would be some consequences. For one, a large decline in wealth would force advanced country consumers to cut back on their spending, which in turn would lead firms to curtail their investments. And if this happens, monetary and fiscal policies would have much less room for expansionary manoeuvre since interest rates are already low while government debts are high. And the political implications of yet another decline in asset prices, the second in a decade, could also be significant, with effects that are difficult to imagine.

In sum, assessing future risks hinges on two calls: interest rate policy and asset valuations. On policy, extraordinarily low rates have, to paraphrase Paul Krugman, become “an obsession in search of a justification.” Initially justified by the dislocations caused by the Global Financial Crisis, then by large output gaps, they are now defended on the grounds that inflation remains weak, even as the slack in product and labor markets is disappearing rapidly. Will the gathering new evidence on closing output gaps and rising employment dispel that obsession?

On valuations, the prognosticator must navigate a narrow strait: steering clear of the “Cry of Wolf” trap (bond prices will finally, finally correct, having defied the prediction of correction in each of the last several years), without succumbing to the siren call of “This Time is Different” (stock valuations are sustainable this time because interest rates will remain at historic lows). OVERVIEW OF INDIA'S ECONOMIC PERFORMANCE IN 2017-18

The key question going forward is whether the economy has troughed, and if so at what pace it will recover toward its medium term trend. High frequency indicators do suggest that a robust recovery is taking hold as reflected in a variety of indicators, including overall GVA, manufacturing GVA, the IIP, gross capital formation (Figure 17) and exports.

Similarly, real non-food credit growth has rebounded to 4 percent in November 2017 on a year-on-year basis, while the squeeze on real credit to industry is abating (Figure 18). Moreover, the flow of nonbank resources to the corporate sector, such as bond market borrowing and lending by NBFCs, has increased by 43 percent (April-December 2017 compared to the same period a year ago), substituting in part for weak bank credit. Rural demand, proxied by motor cycle sales, and auto sales, while not yet back to its pre-demonetization trend, are recovering (Figures 19 and 20).

Perhaps most significantly, the behaviour of manufacturing exports and imports in the second and third quarters of this fiscal year has started to reverse. The re-acceleration of export growth to 13.6 percent in the third quarter of FY2018 and deceleration of import growth to 13.1 percent, in line with global trends, suggest that the demonetization and GST effects are receding. Services export and private remittances are also rebounding (Figure 21).

On demonetization specifically, the cash-to-GDP ratio has stabilized, suggesting a return to equilibrium. The evidence is that since about June 2017 the trend in currency is identical to that pre-demonetization (Figure 22). The stabilization also permits estimation of the impact of demonetization: about Rs. 2.8 lakh Crores less cash (1.8 percent of GDP) and about Rs. 3.8 lakh Crores less high denomination notes (2.5 percent of GDP).

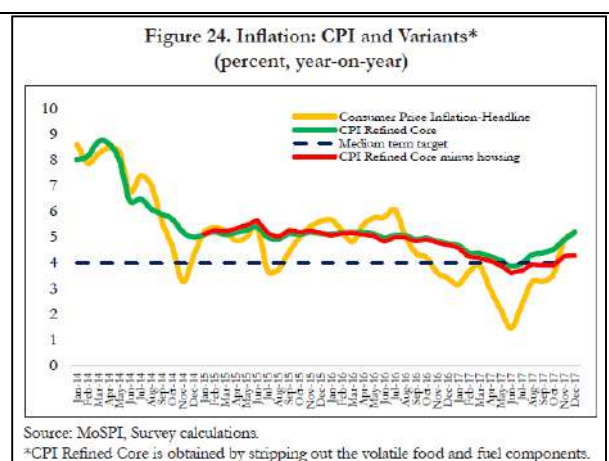

A final, important factor explaining the growth recovery is fiscal, which is providing a boost to aggregate demand. For reasons related to smoothening the transition, GST revenues will only be collected for 11 months, which is akin to a tax cut for consumers. Meanwhile, overall revenue expenditure growth by the central and state governments at remains strong at 11.7 percent (April to November). Cyclical conditions may also lead to lower tax and non-tax revenues, which act as an automatic stabilizer.

All this said, while the direction of the indicators is positive, their level remains below potential. IIP growth (April-November 2017 over same period in the previous year) is 3.2 percent, real credit growth to industry is still in negative territory, and the growth in world trade remains less than half its level of a decade ago. Moreover, even though the cost of equity has fallen to low levels, corporates have not raised commensurate amounts of capital, suggesting that their investment plans remain modest (Box 6). In other words, the twin engines that propelled the economy's take-off in the mid-2000s – exports and investment – are continuing to run below take-off speed.

Meanwhile, developments in the agriculture sector bear monitoring. The trend acceleration in rural wages (agriculture and non-agriculture), which had occurred through much of 2016 because of increased activity on the back of a strong monsoon, seems to have decelerated beginning just before the kharif season of 2017-18 (Figure 23) but it is still greater than much of the last three years. Three crop-specific developments are evident. Sowing has been lower in both kharif and rabi, reducing the demand for labor. The acreage for kharif and rabi for 2017-18 is estimated to have declined by 6.1 percent and 0.5 percent, respectively. Pulses and oilseeds have seen an increase in sowing, but this has translated into unusually low farmgate prices (below their minimum support price, MSP), again affecting farm revenues. The so-called TOP perishables (tomatoes, onions, and potatoes) have meanwhile fluctuated between high and low prices, engendering income uncertainty for farmers.

The CSO has forecast real GDP growth for 2017-18 at 6.5 percent. However, this estimate has not fully factored in the latest developments in the third quarter, especially the greater-than-CSO-forecast exports and government contributions to demand. Accordingly, real GDP growth for 2017-18 as a whole is expected to be close to 6 3/4 percent. Given real GDP growth of 6 percent in the first half, this implies that growth in the second half would rebound to 7.5 percent, aided by favourable base effects, especially in the fourth quarter.

Average CPI inflation for the first nine months has averaged 3.2 percent and is projected to reach 3.7 percent for the year as a whole. This implies average CPI inflation in the last quarter of 5 percent, in line with the RBI's forecast. Therefore, the GDP deflator is expected to grow by 3.6 percent for 2017-18, somewhat higher than the CSO's forecast of 2.8 percent. Consequentially, nominal GDP growth is estimated at 10.5 percent, compared with the CSO's 9.5 percent estimate. (Source: Economic Survey 2017-18 Volume 1 www.indiabudget.nic.in)

OUTLOOK FOR 2018-19

The outlook for 2018-19 will be determined by economic policy in the run-up to the next national election. If macro-economic stability is kept under control, the ongoing reforms are stabilized, and the world economy remains buoyant as today, growth could start recovering towards its medium term economic potential of at least 8 percent.

Consider the components of demand that will influence the growth outlook. The acceleration of global growth should in principle provide a solid boost to export demand. Certainly, it has done so in the past, particularly in the mid-2000s when the booming global economy allowed India to increase its exports by more than 26 percent per annum. This time, the export response to world growth has been in line with the long-term average, but below the response in the mid-2000s. Perhaps it is only a matter of time until exports start to grow at a healthy rate. Remittances are already perking up, and may revive further due to higher oil prices.

Private investment seems poised to rebound, as many of the factors exerting a drag on growth over the past year finally ease off. Translating this potential into an actual investment rebound will depend on the resolution and recapitalization process. If this process moves ahead expeditiously, stressed firms will be put in the hands of stronger ownership, allowing them to resume spending. But if resolution is delayed, so too will the return of the private capex cycle. And if this occurs public investment will not be able to step into the breach, since it will be constrained by the need to maintain a modicum of fiscal consolidation to head off market anxieties.

Consumption demand, meanwhile, will encounter different tugs. On the positive side, it will be helped by the likely reduction in real interest rates in 2018-19 compared to the 2017-18 average. At the same time, average oil prices are forecast by the IMF to be about 12 percent higher in 2018-19, which will crimp real incomes and spending—assuming the increase is passed on into higher prices, rather than absorbed by the budget through excise tax reductions or by the oil marketing companies. And if higher oil prices requires tighter monetary policy to meet the inflation target, real interest rates could exert a drag on consumption.

Putting all these factors together, a pick-up in growth to between 7 and 7.5 percent in 2018-19 can be forecasted, re-instating India as the world's fastest growing major economy. This forecast is subject to upside potential and downside risks. The biggest source of upside potential will be exports. If the relationship between India's exports and world growth returns to that in the boom phase, and if world growth in 2018 is as projected by the IMF, then that could add another ½ percentage point to growth.

Another key determinant of growth will be the implementation of the IBC process. Here timeliness in resolution and acceptance of the IBC solutions must be a priority to kick-start private investment. The greater the delays in the early cases, the greater the risk that uncertainty will soon shroud the entire IBC process. It is also possible that expeditious resolution may require the government to provide more resources to PSBs, especially if the haircuts required are greater than previously expected, the ongoing process of asset quality recognition uncovers more stressed assets, and if new accounting standards are implemented.

Persistently high oil prices (at current levels) remain a key risk. They would affect inflation, the current account, the fiscal position and growth, and force macroeconomic policies to be tighter than otherwise. One eventuality to guard against is a classic emerging market "sudden stall" induced by sharp corrections to elevated stock prices. (Box 9 suggests that India's stock price surge is different from that in other countries but does not warrant sanguine-ness about its sustainability.) Savers, already smarting from reduced opportunities in the wake of demonetization, from depressed gold prices, and from lower nominal interest rates, would feel aggrieved, leading to calls for action. Stock price corrections could also trigger capital outflows, especially if monetary policy unwinds less hesitantly in advanced countries and if oil prices remain high. Policy might then have to respond with higher interest rates, which could choke off the nascent recovery. The classic emerging market dilemma of reconciling the trade-off between macro-stability and growth could then play itself out.

A key policy question will be the fiscal path for the coming year. Given the imperative of establishing credibility after this year, given the improved outlook for growth (and hence narrowing of the output gap), and given the resurgence of price pressures, fiscal policy should ideally have targeted a reasonable fiscal consolidation. However, setting overly ambitious targets for consolidation—especially in a pre-election year—based on optimistic forecasts that carry a high risk of not being realized will not garner credibility either. Pragmatically steering between these extremes would suggest the following: a modest consolidation that credibly signals a return to the path of gradual but steady fiscal deficit reductions.

Against this overall economic and political background, economic management will be challenging in the coming year. If the obvious pitfalls (such as fiscal expansion) are avoided and the looming risks are averted that would be no mean achievement.

SWOT Analysis

Strengths:

1. Established relationships – Since our products are providing solutions for E-Governance, they have been widely accepted and used by government authorities across India. Being an early-mover in the Industry with large customer base, customer reference and an established government clients we stand to benefit as a preferred partner for solutions.
2. Strategic Associations – We have partnered with few of the major software platform providers like, Microsoft and Autodesk. This has enabled us to provide quality innovation solution to our clients with a customised focus.
3. Complete automation solution – Our products meet the complete requirement of government for automation of their services related to construction permits and infrastructure works. The Company offers a wide range of services ranging from pre-construction to construction to post construction execution phases. Further, since the ranking of “Ease of Doing Business” in construction permits is largely dependent on the single window system for plan approval process, our products are preferred by government authorities to take the benefit of the same and reduce their approval time.

Weakness:

1. Largely dependent on government initiatives – Products of our Company are being used by government authorities owing to their increased focus on digitalization of work. Our business is largely dependent on such initiatives and policies of the government, which makes us vulnerable to any sudden change in policies which may hamper our growth potential.
2. Presence only in India – Though we have acquired a few International customers, our company has yet to enter International market in a full fledged manner. Being in niche technology arena our growth rate could be slower in the absence of strong foot print in International market.

Opportunities:

1. Focus on Digital technology – There has been continued focus by government and countries across the globe on Digitalisation of the economy. With increased spend on digitalisation, demand of IT solutions and software would be increasing. Further, our Company has also increased its focus on digital arena and this could be a driving force for the Company to grow in future.
2. Growth in Infrastructure activity– As our focus has been mostly in India and providing services which caters to construction activities like smart cities and affordable housing schemes that are expected to grow at a good pace, we foresee increased construction activity in India. “Smart City” plans by the government will further enhance the demand of our products by both government as well as private enterprises.

Threats:

- 1. Increasing competition - IT industry is a highly competitive industry with many small and large players across the region where we have presence. This competition pressures forces us to reduce our contract value in order to win tenders to gain clients and have a competitive advantage over our peers.
- 2. Rising wages in India – Lower wage cost is highly important for companies based out of countries like US which invests heavily in R&D. We have been carrying out such activities mainly from India due to relatively lower wage cost. However, there have been increase in wages in past few years which is taking away the cost advantage which we enjoy.

Under GST, goods and services are taxed under different categories of tax slabs. GST is levied on all transactions such as supply, transfer, purchase, barter, lease, or import of goods and/or services. Transactions made within a single state are levied with Central GST (CGST) by the Central Government and State GST (SGST) by the government of that state. For inter-state transactions and imported goods or services, an Integrated GST (IGST) is levied by the Central Government. GST is a consumption based tax, therefore, taxes are paid to the state where the goods or services are consumed and not the state in which they were produced. GST is levied on all stages of the supply chain till the final sale to consumers. There are four tax rates currently i.e. 5%, 12%, 18% and 28% at which goods and services are taxed. The rates of GST applied are subject to variations based on the goods or services.

IV. Intellectual Property Legislations

The Patents Act, 1970

The Patents Act, 1970 ("Patents Act") is the primary legislation governing patent protection in India. In addition to broadly requiring that an invention satisfy the requirements of novelty, utility and non obviousness in order for it to avail patent protection, the Patents Act further provides that patent protection may not be granted to certain specified types of inventions and materials even if they satisfy the above criteria. The term of a patent granted under the Patents Act is for a period of twenty years from the date of filing of application for the patent. The Patents Act deems that computer programmes per se are not 'inventions' and are therefore not entitled to patent protection.

Trademarks Act, 1999

A trademark is used in relation to goods so as to indicate a connection in the course of trade between the goods and a person having the right as proprietor or user to use the mark. The Trademarks Act, 1999, ("Trademarks Act") governs the registration, acquisition, transfer and infringement of trademarks and remedies available to a registered proprietor or user of a trademark. Registration is valid for a period of 10 years but can be renewed in accordance with the specified procedure.

The Copyright Act, 1957

The Copyright Act 1957 ("Copyright Act") governs copyright protection in India. Under the Copyright Act, a copyright may subsist in original literary, dramatic, musical or artistic works, cinematograph films, and sound recordings. Following the issuance of the International Copyright Order, 1999, subject to certain exceptions, the provisions of the Copyright Act apply to nationals of all member states of the World Trade Organization. While copyright registration is not a prerequisite for acquiring or enforcing a copyright, registration creates a presumption favoring the ownership of the copyright by the registered owner. Copyright registration may expedite infringement proceedings and reduce delay caused due to evidentiary considerations. Once registered, the copyright protection of a work lasts for 60 years. The remedies available in the event of infringement of copyright under the Copyright Act include civil proceedings for damages, account of profits, injunction and the delivery of the infringing copies to the copyright owner. The Copyright Act also provides for criminal remedies including imprisonment of the accused and the imposition of fines and seizures of infringing copies.

V. Other Laws

The Indian Contract Act, 1872

The Indian Contract Act, 1872 ("Contract Act") codifies the way in which a contract may be entered into, executed, implementation of the provisions of a contract and effects of breach of a contract. A person is free to contract on any terms he chooses. The Contract Act consists of limiting factors subject to which contract may be entered into, executed and the breach enforced. It provides a framework of rules and regulations that govern formation and performance of contract. The contracting parties themselves decide the rights and duties of parties and terms of agreement.

The Specific Relief Act, 1963

The Specific Relief Act, 1963 ("SR Act") is complimentary to the provisions of the Contract Act and the Transfer of Property Act, as the Act applies both to movable property and immovable property. The SR Act applies in cases where the Court can order specific performance of a contract. Specific relief can be granted only for purpose of enforcing individual civil rights and not for the mere purpose of enforcing a civil law. 'Specific performance' means Court will order the party to perform his part of agreement, instead of imposing on him any monetary liability to pay damages to other party.

The Companies Act, 2013

The Companies Act, 2013 ("CA 2013") has been introduced to replace the erstwhile Companies Act, 1956 in a phased manner. The Act primarily regulates the formation, financing, functioning and winding up of companies. The CA 2013 prescribes regulatory mechanism regarding all relevant aspects, including organizational, financial and managerial aspects of the company. It plays a fundamental role in protecting the investors and the shareholders and balances it with different aspects of company autonomy. The Ministry of Corporate Affairs has also issued Rules complementary to the Act, establishing the procedure to be followed by the companies in order to comply with the substantive provisions of the CA 2013.

Competition Act, 2002

The Competition Act, 2002 ("Competition Act") aims to prevent anti-competitive practices that cause or are likely to cause an appreciable adverse effect on competition in the relevant market in India. The Competition Act regulates anticompetitive agreements, abuse of dominant position and combinations. The Competition Commission of India which became operational from May 20, 2009 has been established under the Competition Act to deal with inquiries relating to anti-competitive agreements and abuse of dominant position and regulate combinations. The Competition Act also provides that the Competition Commission has the jurisdiction to inquire into and pass orders in relation to an anti-competitive agreement, abuse of dominant position or a combination, which even though entered into, arising or taking place outside India or signed between one or more non-Indian parties, but causes an appreciable adverse effect in the relevant market in India.

The Transfer of Property Act, 1882

The Transfer of Property Act, 1882 ("TP Act") as amended, establishes the general principles relating to transfer of property in India. It forms a basis for identifying the categories of property that are capable of being transferred, the persons competent to transfer property, the validity of restrictions and conditions imposed on the transfer and the creation of contingencies and vested interest in the property. It also provides for the rights and liabilities of the vendor and purchaser in a transaction of sale of land.

The Registration Act, 1908

The Registration Act, 1908, as amended, has been enacted with the objective of providing public notice of the execution of documents affecting, inter alia, the transfer of interest in immovable property. The purpose of the Registration Act, 1908 is the conservation of evidence, assurances, title and publication of documents and prevention of fraud. It details the formalities for registering an instrument.

The Indian Stamp Act, 1899

Under the Indian Stamp Act, ("Stamp Act") 1899, as amended stamp duty is payable on instruments evidencing a transfer or creation or extinguishment of any right, title or interest in immovable property. Stamp duty must be paid on all instruments specified under the Stamp Act at the rates specified in the schedules to the Stamp Act. The applicable rates for stamp duty on instruments chargeable with duty vary from State to State.

The Maharashtra Stamp Act, 1958 applies to the entire State of Maharashtra. Only the instruments specified in the Schedule I to the Act are covered by this Act. All other instruments are either chargeable under the Indian Stamp Act (e.g., transfer of shares) or are not chargeable at all (i.e., if they are not specified under the Act as well as under the Indian Stamp Act).

Negotiable Instruments Acts, 1881

In India, the laws governing monetary instruments such as cheques are contained in the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 ("NI Act"), which is largely a codification of the English Law on the subject. To ensure prompt remedy against defaulters and to ensure credibility of the holders of the negotiable instrument a criminal remedy of penalty was inserted in Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 in form of the Banking, Public Financial Institutions and Negotiable Instruments Laws (Amendment), 1988 which were further modified by the Negotiable Instruments (Amendment and Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 2002. The Act provides effective legal provision to restrain people from issuing cheques without having sufficient funds in their account or any stringent provision to punish them in the event of such cheque not being honoured by their bankers and returned unpaid. Section 138 of the Act, creates statutory offence in the matter of dishonor of cheques on the ground of insufficiency of funds in the account maintained by a person with the banker which is punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two year, and with fine which may extend to twice the amount of the cheque, or with both.

Shops and Establishments Legislation

The provisions of shops and establishments legislations, as may be applicable in a state in which establishments are set up, regulate the conditions of work and employment and generally prescribe obligations in respect of inter alia registration, opening and closing hours, daily and weekly working hours, holidays, leave, health and safety measures and wages for overtime work. The Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 2015

The Arbitration and Conciliation Act ("Arbitration Act") was enacted to consolidate and amend the law relating to domestic arbitration, international commercial arbitration and enforcement of foreign arbitral awards as also to define the law relating to conciliation and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. The main objectives of the Act is to comprehensively cover international and commercial arbitration and conciliation as also domestic arbitration and conciliation, to make provision for an arbitral procedure which is fair, efficient and capable of meeting the needs of the specific arbitration. The Act provides for the arbitral tribunal to give reasons for its arbitral award, to ensure that the arbitral tribunal remains within the limits of its jurisdiction and thus minimizing the supervisory role of courts in the arbitral process. There are many provisions that also permit an arbitral tribunal to use mediation, conciliation or other procedures during the arbitral proceedings to encourage settlement of disputes, to provide that every final arbitral award is enforced in the same manner as if it were a decree of the court, to provide that a settlement agreement reached by the parties as a result of conciliation proceedings will have the same status and effect as an arbitral award on agreed terms on the substance of the dispute rendered by an arbitral tribunal and to provide that, for purposes of enforcement of foreign awards, every arbitral award made in a country to which one of the two International Conventions relating to foreign arbitral awards to which India is a party applies, will be

Annexure 4: Statement of Notes to Restated Financial Information

ii) Defined benefit plans:

The Company has defined benefit plan in the form of gratuity. The same is determined by actuarial valuation carried out by an independent actuary as at the Balance Sheet date and shortfall/ excess, if any, has been provided for/ considered as prepaid.

The actuarial valuation method used by independent actuary for measuring the liability is the Projected Unit Credit Method.

Actuarial gains and losses comprise experience adjustments and the effects of changes in actuarial assumptions and are recognised immediately in the Statement of Profit and Loss as income or expense.

Compensated absences

Accumulated compensated absences, which are expected to be availed or encashed within 12 months from the end of the year are treated as short-term employee benefits. The obligation towards the compensated absences is measured at the expected cost of accumulating compensated absences as the additional amount expected to be paid as a result of the unused entitlement as at the year end. The Company's liability is actuarially determined (using the Projected Unit Credit method) at the end of each year. Actuarial losses/ gains are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the year in which they arise.

i) Borrowing costs

General and specific borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition/ construction of qualifying assets, which are assets that necessarily take a substantial period of time to get ready for their intended use, are added to the cost of those assets, until such time the assets are substantially ready for their intended use. All other borrowing costs are recognised as an expense in Statement of Profit and Loss in the period in which they are incurred.

j) Taxes on income

The provision for current taxation is computed in accordance with the relevant tax regulations. Deferred tax is recognised on timing differences between the accounting and taxable income for the year and quantified using the tax rates and laws enacted or substantively enacted as at the Balance Sheet date. Deferred tax assets in respect of unabsorbed depreciation and carry forward losses under tax laws are recognised and carried forward to the extent there is virtual certainty supported by convincing evidence that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised in future. Where there is no unabsorbed depreciation / carry forward loss, deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent there is a reasonable certainty of realisation in future. Such assets are reviewed at each Balance Sheet date to reassess realisation.

k) Intangible assets

Research costs are expensed as incurred. Development expenditure incurred on an individual project is recognised as an intangible asset when the Company can demonstrate all the following:

- The technical feasibility of completing the intangible asset so that it will be available for use or sale.

- Its ability to use or sell the asset.
- How the asset will generate future economic benefits.
- The availability of adequate resources to complete the development and to use or sell the asset.
- The ability to measure reliably the expenditure attributable to the intangible asset during development.

During the period of development, the asset is tested for impairment annually. Amortisation of the asset begins when development is complete and the asset is available for use. Internally generated intangible assets are amortised on a straight line basis over the period of four years. Amortisation is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

Computer Software are amortised on a straight line basis over their estimated useful life of five years.

l) Impairment of assets

Management evaluates at regular intervals, using external and internal sources, the need for impairment of any asset. Impairment occurs where the carrying value exceeds the present value of future cash flows expected to arise from the continuing use of the asset and its net realisable value on its eventual disposal. Any loss on account of impairment is expensed as the excess of the carrying amount over the higher of the asset's net sales price or present value as determined.

After impairment, depreciation is provided on the revised carrying amount of the asset over its remaining useful life.

A previously recognised impairment loss is increased or reversed depending on changes in circumstances. However, the carrying value after reversal is not increased beyond the carrying value that would have prevailed by charging usual depreciation if there was no impairment.

Contingent liabilities are disclosed when there is a possible obligation arising from past events, the existence of which will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the Company or a present obligation that arises from past events where it is either not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle or a reliable estimate of the amount cannot be made.

1) The ratios have been computed in the following manner :

- a) Basic and Diluted earnings per share (₹) $\frac{\text{Restated Profit after tax attributable to equity shareholders}}{\text{Weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period/year}}$
- b) Return on net worth (%) = $\frac{\text{Restated Profit after tax}}{\text{Restated Net worth as at period/ year end}}$
- c) Net asset value per share (₹) $\frac{\text{Restated Net Worth as at period/ year end}}{\text{Total number of equity shares as at period/ year end}}$

2) The figures disclosed above are based on the Restated Financial Information of the Company.

3) Weighted average number of equity shares is the number of equity shares outstanding at the beginning of the period/year adjusted for the number of equity shares issued during the period/year multiplied by the time weightage factor. The time weightage factor is the number of days for which the specific shares are outstanding as a proportion of total number of days during the period/year. As per Accounting Standard-20, Earnings per share, the number of equity shares outstanding before a defined event is adjusted for the change in the number of equity shares outstanding, as if the defined event had occurred at the beginning of the earliest period reported. Accordingly, bonus shares issued during February 2018 have been added to the outstanding shares in the respective earlier periods.

4) The Company had CCPS, having par value of Rs.10/- per share. The CCPS were to be converted into such number of Equity Shares, at option of the investor at any time after July 31 2015 or were to be automatically converted into equity shares at the completion of 10 years from the date of subscription of CCPS; in accordance with the conversion price under the agreement with the shareholders based on fair valuation. The shares to be so issued were fairly priced and as per para 37(a) of Accounting Standard 20, "Earnings per Share" are assumed to be neither dilutive nor anti dilutive and hence not considered for the calculation of Diluted Earnings per Share.

5) Ratios for the seven months ended 31 October 2017 have not been annualised.

6) Net worth for the ratios represents sum of share capital and reserves and surplus (securities premium and surplus in the Restated Summary Statement of Profit and Loss).

7) The above statement should be read with the Statement of Notes to the Restated Financial Information of the Company in Annexure 4.

Any reduction in the carrying amount or any reversal of such provision towards reductions are charged or credited to the Statement of Profit and Loss.

Non-current investments are stated at cost. Provision for diminution in the value of these investments is made only if such decline is other than temporary, in the opinion of the management.

h) Employee benefits

All employee benefits payable wholly within twelve months of rendering the services are classified as short-term employee benefits. Benefits such as salaries, wages, expected cost of bonus and short term compensated absences etc. are recognised in the period in which the employee renders the related service.

II. Post-employment benefits:

i. Defined contribution plans:

The Company's state governed provident fund and ESIC are its defined contribution plans. The contribution paid/payable under the scheme is recognised during the period in which the employee renders the related service.

ii. Defined benefit plans:

The Company has defined benefit plan in the form of gratuity. The same is determined by actuarial valuation carried out by an independent actuary as at the Balance Sheet date and shortfall/ excess, if any, has been provided for/ considered as prepaid.

The actuarial valuation method used by independent actuary for measuring the liability is the Projected Unit Credit Method.

Actuarial gains and losses comprise experience adjustments and the effects of changes in actuarial assumptions and are recognised immediately in the Statement of Profit and Loss as income or expense.

Compensated absences

Accumulated compensated absences, which are expected to be availed or encashed within 12 months from the end of the year are treated as short-term employee benefits. The obligation towards the compensated absences is measured at the expected cost of accumulating compensated absences as the additional amount expected to be paid as a result of the unused entitlement as at the year end. The Company's liability is actuarially determined (using the Projected Unit Credit method) at the end of each year. Actuarial losses/ gains are recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss in the year in which they arise.

i) Borrowing costs

General and specific borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition/ construction of qualifying assets, which are assets that necessarily take a substantial period of time to get ready for their intended use, are added to the cost of those assets, until such time the assets are substantially ready for their intended use. Deferred tax is recognised on timing differences between the accounting and taxable income for the year and quantified using the tax rates and laws enacted or substantively enacted as at the Balance Sheet date. Deferred tax assets in respect of unabsorbed depreciation and carry forward losses under tax laws are recognised and carried forward to the extent there is virtual certainty supported by convincing evidence that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realised in future. Where there is no unabsorbed depreciation / carry forward loss, deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent there is a reasonable certainty of realisation in future. Such assets are reviewed at each Balance Sheet date to reassess realisation.

k) Intangible assets

During the period of development, the asset is tested for impairment annually. Amortisation of the asset begins when development is complete and the asset is available for use. Internally generated intangible assets are amortised on a straight line basis over the period of four years. Amortisation is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

Computer Software are amortised on a straight line basis over their estimated useful life of five years.

l) Impairment of assets

Management evaluates at regular intervals, using external and internal sources, the need for impairment of any asset. Impairment occurs where the carrying value exceeds the present value of future cash flows expected to arise from the continuing use of the asset and its net realisable value on its eventual disposal. Any loss on account of impairment is expensed as the excess of the carrying amount over the higher of the asset's net sales price or present value as determined.

After impairment, depreciation is provided on the revised carrying amount of the asset over its remaining useful life.

A previously recognised impairment loss is increased or reversed depending on changes in circumstances. However, the carrying value after reversal is not increased beyond the carrying value that would have prevailed by charging usual depreciation if there was no impairment.

m) Provisions and contingent liabilities

Provisions are recognised when there is a present obligation as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and there is a reliable estimate of the amount of the obligation. Provisions are measured at the best estimate of the expenditure required to settle the present obligation at the Balance Sheet date and are not discounted to their present value.

Contingent liabilities are disclosed when there is a possible obligation arising from past events, the existence of which will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the Company or a present obligation that arises from past events where it is either not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle or a reliable estimate of the amount cannot be made.

500	24	500	16.67%
1,000	23	1,500	50.00%
1,500	22	3,000	100.00%

SECTION VIII. RESTRICTIONS ON FOREIGN OWNERSHIP OF INDIAN SECURITIES

Foreign investment in Indian securities is regulated through the Industrial Policy, 1991 of the Government of India and Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 ("FEMA"). While the Industrial Policy, 1991 prescribes the limits and the conditions subject to which foreign investment can be made in different sectors of the Indian economy, FEMA regulates the precise manner in which such investment may be made. Under the Industrial Policy, unless specifically restricted, foreign investment is freely permitted in all sectors of Indian economy up to any extent and without any prior approvals, but the foreign investor is required to follow certain prescribed procedures for making such investment. The government bodies responsible for granting foreign investment approvals are the Reserve Bank of India ("RBI") and Department of Industrial Policy and Promotion, Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Government of India ("DIPP") and the concerned Ministry/ Department as laid out in the FDI Policy 2017.

The Government of India, from time to time, has made policy pronouncements on Foreign Direct Investment ("FDI") through press notes and press releases. The DIPP, has issued consolidated FDI Policy Circular of 2017 ("FDI Policy 2017"), with effect from August 28, 2017, which consolidates and supersedes all previous press notes, press releases and clarifications on FDI Policy issued by the DIPP that were in force. The Government proposes to update the consolidated circular on FDI policy once every year and therefore, FDI Policy 2017 will be valid until the DIPP issues an updated circular.

The Reserve Bank of India also issues Master Circular on Foreign Investment in India every year. Presently, FDI in India is being governed by Master Circular on Foreign Investment dated July 01, 2015 as updated from time to time by RBI. In terms of the Master Circular, an Indian company may issue fresh shares to people resident outside India (who is eligible to make investments in India, for which eligibility criteria are as prescribed). Such fresh issue of shares shall be subject to inter-alia, the pricing guidelines prescribed under the Master Circular. The Indian company making such fresh issue of shares would be subject to the reporting requirements, inter-alia with respect to consideration for issue of shares and also subject to making certain filings including filing of Form FC-GPR.

Under the current FDI Policy of 2017, foreign direct investment in micro and small enterprises is subject to sectoral caps, entry routes and other sectoral regulations. At present 100% foreign direct investment through automatic route is permitted in the sector in which our Company operates.

The transfer of shares between an Indian resident to a non-resident does not require the prior approval of the RBI, subject to fulfilment of certain conditions as specified by DIPP/RBI, from time to time. Such conditions include:

- i. where the transfer of shares requires the prior approval of the Government as per the extant FDI policy provided that:
 - a. the requisite approval of the Government has been obtained; and
 - b. the transfer of shares adheres with the pricing guidelines and documentation requirements as specified by the Reserve Bank of India from time to time.;
- ii. where the transfer of shares attract SEBI (SAST) Regulations subject to the adherence with the pricing guidelines and documentation requirements as specified by Reserve Bank of India from time to time;
- iii. where the transfer of shares does not meet the pricing guidelines under the FEMA, 1999 provided that:

- a. The resultant FDI is in compliance with the extant FDI policy and FEMA regulations in terms of sectoral caps, conditionality's (such as minimum capitalization, etc.), reporting requirements, documentation etc.;
 - b. The pricing for the transaction is compliant with the specific/explicit, extant and relevant SEBI regulations/guidelines (such as IPO, Book building, block deals, delisting, exit, open offer/substantial acquisition/SEBI SAST); and Chartered Accountants Certificate to the effect that compliance with the relevant SEBI regulations/guidelines as indicated above is attached to the form FC-TRS to be filed with the AD bank; and

As per the existing policy of the Government of India, OCBs cannot participate in this Offer and in accordance with the extant FDI guidelines on sectoral caps, pricing guidelines etc. as amended by Reserve bank of India, from time to time. Investors are advised to confirm their eligibility under the relevant laws before investing and / or subsequent purchase or sale transaction in the Equity Shares of our Company.
